

University Continues Segregated Court Restrains Georgia Closing

Bulletin

ATLANTA (AP) — A federal judge restrained Gov. Ernest Vandiver today from closing the University of Georgia by cutting off funds for the institution.

Judge W. A. Bootle issued a temporary injunction ordering the governor and State Auditor B. E. Thrasher not to cut off or withhold operating funds.

Bootle, who last Friday issued an order that the university must admit two Negroes, set a hearing for Thursday morning on whether the injunction should be made permanent.

Bootle acted on a petition by attorneys for Miss Charlayne A. Hunter, 18, and Hamilton E. Holmes, 19, the Negroes who want to pursue their education at ancient and historic Georgia.

ATLANTA (AP) — The University of Georgia continued operating on a segregated basis today because two Negroes ordered admitted by a federal court failed to show up for classes.

Governor Waits

"The moment they appear on campus, pay their registration fees and walk into a classroom Gov. Ernest Vandiver will sign an order for immediate closure of the university," an unimpeachable source close to the chief executive told The Associated Press.

This source explained that integration actually begins only when they report at a classroom. Then a state law cutting off funds becomes operative.

Neither Appear

Charlayne A. Hunter, 18, and Hamilton E. Holmes, 19, the Negroes who seek to further their education at Georgia, were reported in Atlanta this morning. It was learned that Holmes had been scheduled to appear at a 9 a.m. class, but did not appear.

In the absence of the Negroes and an official order from Vandiver, fewer than normal white students presented themselves for first classes at 8 a.m.

At the university, President O. C. Aderhold went into conference with the school's administrative council. They were awaiting word from the governor.

Some Take Vacation

Some students had packed and returned to their homes for a vacation after hearing that Vandiver would shut the school until the legislature can act to repeal the funds cutoff provision in state law.

Donald L. Hollowell, chief counsel for the Negroes, was reported en route to Macon, Ga., 100 miles (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Arson Expert Is To Help Check on Fires at Diner

An arson probe is under way at an area diner which had two fires in as many days.

A blaze at Mike's Diner on Route 9W near Glasco Turnpike on Sunday was first reported to have started from a short circuit.

Monday morning firemen were called back when fire broke out again while the diner was closed.

Ulster County Investigator Arthur H. Brown today said that the owner, Michael Panchak, requested a further check to determine the cause.

Brown further said that Leonard Riccio from the arson squad of National Board of Insurance Underwriters will join in the investigation.

Saugerties Denies Bonesteel Petition

The petition for rezoning of the Melinda Bonesteel property from residential to business, was denied for a second time by a unanimous decision of Saugerties Village Board at its Monday night meeting.

The decision was the result of a public hearing held at the clerk's office on December 19 when petitioner for the change and those opposed to change appeared with attorneys to present their views to the board. At that time the board reserved decision to allow attorneys to file memorandums of law.

Attorney Frederick H. Stang, a former mayor of Kingston, representing Mrs. Bonesteel and her son, Chester H. Bonesteel of Elm Street, Saugerties, presented a petition with 23 signers, seeking rezoning of the property on Market Street.

A counter petition was presented by Attorney William D. Brinnier, a Saugerties town justice of the peace, representing residents in the immediate vicinity of the property. The counter petition containing 43 signers ap-

Maneuvers Add to Scare

Cuba Under Martial Law Official Says

By RICHARD VALERIANI

HAVANA (AP)—Annual maneuvers by the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps in the Caribbean gave new impetus to Fidel Castro's nationwide invasion alert today. A high official said all Cuba is under the equivalent of martial law.

Mobilization of military and labor forces throughout the island was speeded as Castro's regime prepared for an invasion it insists is coming from the United States by Jan. 18.

Crash Kills Three

The government radio announced three members of the Cuban armed forces including a prominent Cuban Communist, Osvaldo Sanchez Cabrera, were killed in a plane crash at the north coast resort of Vardero. The Communist newspaper Hoy hinted, however, that this may have come from fire of Cuban defense forces.

Sanchez Cabrera apparently was on a militia duty.

More soldiers took battle stations along Havana's seaford Malecon Drive. Militiamen dug more trenches in public parks and gardens along the ocean.

U.S. officials in Washington and Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, denied there was aggressive intent behind the maneuvers, which started Monday. The Marines will train on Vieques Island, off the coast of Puerto Rico and about 135 miles east of Havana. While ships of the maneuver force will call from time to time at the U.S. Navy base or Guantanamo Bay, the Navy said, the exercise had been planned some time ago.

Says Activity Provocative

The government-controlled Cuban press denounced the naval activity as warmongering and provocative.

"Prensa Libre" said the maneuvers were designed to encourage counter-revolutionaries "supplied by the Pentagon and Central Intelligence Agency" in case their enthusiasm had been dampened by Cuba's display of military might in a huge parade in Havana Jan. 2.

The maneuvers would serve as a "covering play" for ships and planes bringing invaders, the newspapers charged.

Says Bay Is Mined

The semi-official "Revolucion" charged the United States is mining Guantanamo Bay and unloading large quantities of medicine at the base.

"Revolucion" said the U.S. supercarrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, which visited Guantanamo Bay Monday, will be incorporated with several destroyers into a combat unit to be stationed in the area.

Library Meeting To Be Wednesday

The annual meeting of the Kingston City Library Association will be held at the library on Wednesday at 8 p. m. The meeting is open to the public and those who have paid their annual dues will be entitled to vote for trustees.

The director's report will be read and a progress report of the past year reviewed.

A bid by the library board for the addition of some $6,000 to its $22,000 budget at a recent meeting of board members and aidmen was left with the Common Council's finance committee.

Book Is Out By Former Communist

A Woodstock author, Frank S. Meyer of Ohayo Mountain, a former active Communist for 14 years, has just written The Moulding of Communists, The Training of the Communist Cadre, giving the inside story of the party recruitment and training.

The book, published by Harcourt, Brace and Company of New York City, combines personal experience with considerable reflection and the insights of others. Some of the most striking passages of the book describe the psychological techniques used by the party to obtain complete and unswerving obedience.

Author Praises Book

Karl A. Wittfogel, author of Oriental Despotism: A Comparative Study of Total Power, calls Meyer's book "the first serious analytic study of forces involved in the moulding of a Communist."

Meyer was educated at Princeton and Balliol College, Oxford, and did graduate work at London School of Economics and the University of Chicago. During his undergraduate years he became a Communist and over a decade and a half participated in the movement in leading capacities both in England and the United States.

Breaks With Movement

He served in the Army in World War II and after the war broke sharply and publicly with communism. There followed a seven-year period of retirement and reconsideration of political and moral life.

He has been for some years an editor of the conservative National Review and is editorial adviser of Modern Age. Meyer lectures widely and is presently completing a book on the foundations of conservative thought, Why Freedom.

He lives with his wife and two sons on Ohayo Mountain, Woodstock.

On Verge of Solution

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Police today appeared to be on the verge of cracking the Gibbons Hotel murder case. One of two men being held in Knoxville, Tenn., has implicated the other in the bludgeoning slaying of Harvey Whetstone, 31-year-old consulting engineer for a Chicago firm, according to investigators.

Whetstone's nude body was discovered by a bellboy early Saturday in his eighth floor room at the Gibbons Hotel here.

Whetstone, of Lombard, Ill., was lying on a bed, his hands tied behind him and the rest of his body trussed with his own clothing.

There was a bruise above his eye and the room was splashed with blood.

U. S. Facing Problem in Silver Line

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Treasury, already beset by a gold problem, is facing a troublesome silver situation.

By mid-1963, if present trends were to continue, the department would lose its long-standing power to dictate the international price of silver.

Should that happen, you might have to pay more for a wide variety of items ranging from silver jewelry to photographic film.

An increase in the price of silver also could affect coinage in many parts of the world. Some countries might find their silver coins worth more in silver than in the metal they are made of.

Legislature Roundup

Bids State Review Laws on Aviation

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A Queens Assemblyman, citing a collision of two airplanes that killed 134 persons last month, called today for a legislative review of the state's aviation laws.

Anthony P. Savarese Jr., a Republican, said the laws were enacted "while the industry was in its infancy."

Savarese also introduced a measure to make aircraft owners and operators liable for damages to persons and property on the ground in the event of an air crash.

Other bills introduced today would set the presidential election-residency requirement at 30 days in the state, and allow limited chauffeur licenses for violators of motor-vehicle laws who must drive to earn a living.

A bill also was submitted to ratify an amendment to the federal Constitution that would give the citizens of the District of Columbia a vote in presidential elections. Another bill would give free fishing licenses to inmates of mental institutions.

Savarese said airport traffic clearly had grown beyond the capacity of airport facilities and controls to handle it with the broadest degree of efficiency and safety.

He said a joint legislative committee should evaluate the responsibility of the state government in regard to airport facilities.

It was extremely difficult, "if not impossible, for those on the ground to recover damages for injury to themselves or their property" from the airplane crash, Savarese said.

Rebate Is 10 PC on '60 Income

Democrats Protest But Vote for Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's $90-million tax-rebate plan received final legislative approval today and went immediately to the governor for his signature.

The Assembly passed the bill this afternoon. It calls for a 10 per cent refund on 1960 state income taxes.

54 to 3 in Senate
The Senate approved the measure Monday night, 54-3.

Minority Democrats protested in both houses that the Republican governor's plan for a percentage cut would give most relief to upper-bracket taxpayers.

But most of the Democrats voted for the legislation. "You don't fight Santa Claus," one explained.

The tax-cut bill is the first measure to be acted upon by the 1961 Legislature in its opening working session. The governor requested prompt action so taxpayers could begin filing their returns and the State Tax Department could begin making refunds.

May Total $5 Million

The governor's office said refunds would be mailed to taxpayers within four to six weeks after returns were received.

The state expects to make 4.5 to 5 million refunds. The money will come from a $120-million surplus—in income-tax collections.

Surplus revenues not refunded will go into reserves.

In other legislative developments: 1. The Senate gave second approval to a proposed constitutional amendment for limited reorganization of state courts. After second approval in the Assembly the proposal would go to voters for final action in the November election.

2. Assembly Speaker Joseph E. Carroll appointed John Robert Brook of Manhattan as chairman of the Assembly Judiciary Committee and Louis H. Folmer of Cortland as chairman of the Banks Committee. Both are Republicans.

3. State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, a Democrat, said he would ask the 1961 Legislature to approve a bill under which the state would take over the entire cost of its employees' retirement system. The state now pays $35 million a year and the workers $65 million.

In the tax-cut debate in the Senate Monday night, the Democrats followed the two basic arguments party leaders have been advancing since the governor first proposed the tax cut last June.

One is that a percentage cut helps upper-bracket taxpayers more than lower-income groups. The other is that the $90 million slated for tax refunds might be put to better use for education or other state activities.

Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney said in answer that the 1959 tax increases, which resulted in the surplus revenues, had taken the largest slice from upper-bracket taxpayers.

"The fair way to give something back is the same way you took it," Mahoney said. He argued the lower-income taxpayers had not been penalized by the 1959 increases.

NEW YORK (AP)—Three days after President Eisenhower leaves the White House, his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, will take over as vice president in charge of news, special events and public affairs at the American Broadcasting Co.

Hagerty, 51, announced his White House resignation Monday. He is taking John Daly's job at ABC. Daly resigned in November in a dispute with the network over policy.

Hagerty, who received $21,000 a year as White House press secretary, declined to reveal his ABC salary. Informed sources believe it is about $50,000 a year.

Broome Groups Rally To Save Shoe Firm

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — Businessmen, workers, church leaders, veterans and women's groups in the Triple Cities rallied behind the embattled family management of the Endicott Johnson Corp. today with both financial and moral support.

The 80-year-old shoe firm, a major factor in the growth of Binghamton, Endicott and Johnson City and employer of 15,000, is fighting off an alleged attempt at control by the Glen Alden Corp.

Petitions circulated among shoe company workers for their permission to make more than $10 million in retirement funds available to the E-J management.

Meanwhile, more than $1 million to buy E-J stock by groups and individuals appeared assured after the first day of a drive to raise $5 million.

J. M. Kaplan, an E-J director had said that the shoe firm, the nation's second largest, was dying and that Glen Alden had the capital needed to revive E-J.

A community committee was formed yesterday to carry the fight for E-J. The committee received an initial pledge of $800,000.

Pledges ranged from 4 shares of E-J common, by the 40-member Town of Union Business Women's League, to $300,000 in stock by Joel H. Carroll of Elmira, a former Binghamton businessman.

A flurry of trading on the New York Stock Exchange pushed E-J common to $34.25 a share at the close Monday. The stock, among the most 15 active on the board, rose $3.12 1/2.

The origin of the petitions among company employees was unknown to the management last night.

"Apparently they represent spontaneous action on the part of a number of groups within the company in response to recent publicity," Jewett Neely Jr., assistant director of manufacturing, said.

The petitions seek employee permission to buy E-J stock with one-fifth of their retirement fund, valued at about $54 million.

Kennedy Vows A Dedicated Administration

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy says his goal is an administration of "courage — judgment — integrity — dedication in the four stormy years that lie ahead."

He solemnly pledges that the new Democratic administration will be mortgaged to no individual or group—economic, racial or political.

He made the pledge late Monday in his first formal address since the election — a nostalgic talk in his home state at a joint session of the Massachusetts Legislature.

"Of those to whom much is given, much is required," Kennedy said in promising that, with God's help, he will try to give much to the nation.

Kennedy's schedule for today — in Manhattan and Washington — is jammed. He booked nine conferences here and in the capital and goes to Florida tonight.

Monday was divided between Boston and Harvard University at Cambridge — a day during which he was mobbed by exuberant Harvard students welcoming an old grad, and a day punctuated by a series of business meetings.

Kennedy closed out the day with relaxation in New York. On arrival from Boston by private plane he hurried to a hasty dinner at Club 21, then went off to see a Broadway hit musical, "Do Re Mi," starring Phil Silvers.

Giants Sign Sherman

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Sherman, an assistant coach of the New York Giants for seven seasons, today was named head coach of the National Football League team. Sherman was hired for three years at an undisclosed salary.

Sherman, 38, succeeds Jim Lee Howell, who led the Giants to three eastern division titles and one league championship in seven years. Howell announced his intention to retire from coaching a year ago.

Three new police cars, equipped with radio equipment are now in service in Kingston, police officials said. The new black and white Plymouths were purchased from Bob Nadler Inc., and have been used by police since Saturday. The vehicles replace old cars.

Parking Situation

cussed at the meeting presided over by Clyde E. Wonderly Jr., president of the association, were promotion schedules for a six-month period, a unified schedule for area store hours and a proposal to provide parking meter tokens for customers.

Special committees of merchants in the uptown area will work to further those proposals and also to make a thorough study which will ultimately improve parking and traffic conditions.

Plans to sponsor another children's Christmas parade and to place lights on trees that have been put on streets in the uptown business district, in 1961 also were discussed.

It was reported that more than 1,000 bulbs are missing from the trees, adding more than $140 in costs to the lighting project.

About 50 attended last night's meeting.

Motion Is Granted For Contract Judgment

A motion for judgment in a contract action brought in Supreme court by Oscar Hilf against Harry Geduldig was granted by Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth Monday. Hilf, LeRoy Gill, appearing for Kooperman & Kooperman of Ellenville, moved for judgment for plaintiff due to default of defendant. Since the amount of the claim by defendant was a liquidated claim, no testimony as to the amount due was required.

Gill told the Court defendant had "abandoned" the defense and the motion for a default judgment in favor of plaintiff was granted in the amount sued for.

Fierce Word War Hangs Over D. C. Aging Conference

By RAY HENRY
WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House Conference on Aging today gets down to the business of sifting recommendations that eventually will be turned over to President-elect John F. Kennedy and to Congress.

As the conference broke into many small work groups, a fierce war of words over medical care of older people hung in the air.

The battle started Monday. Heading the opposing forces were George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, and a spokesman for the American Medical Association.

Meany drew first blood in a speech he had prepared for Monday night by restating the AFL-CIO's support for a Social Security health insurance plan for the aged and accusing the AMA of spending two years "in negative and hostile criticism" of the plan.

Before Meany's speech was delivered and after seeing an advance text, the AMA fired back. Dr. J. Lafe Ludwig, chairman of the AMA's Council of Medical Service, said: "Some labor leaders obviously are more interested in saddling the people of this country with a system of socialized medicine than they are in helping those older people who really need help."

Ludwig said Meany was "attempting to undermine (the conference) to further his own partisan interests."

When Meany delivered his speech he noted the AMA's charges and said with a smile: "May I appeal to you, ladies and gentlemen, please don't have the conference fail. I'd hate to carry this responsibility."

Mt. Marion Youth Back From South On Larceny Count

Albert Snow, 16, of 3 South Road, Mt. Marion Park, who allegedly took the car of John F. Duffy of Mt. Marion early in December, has been returned to Ulster County for grand jury action on a grand larceny charge.

Snow was apprehended at Savannah, Ga., on December 2, 1960, two days after the Duffy car was reported missing. At that time he was charged with having taken a car in Georgia after abandoning the local car.

Georgia authorities surrendered Snow to the New York State authorities and he was returned to Ulster County by a U. S. Marshal.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly on a charge of grand larceny, Snow waived examination and was committed to jail to await action of the Ulster County grand jury. The Duffy car was recovered.

Simmons Girl Missing

Police have been asked to assist in a search for Joan Simmons, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Simmons, 137 Jansen Avenue, who was reported missing from her home. The girl's mother said this afternoon that her daughter has been missing since Saturday between 7 and 7:30 p. m. Police reports describe the girl as 5 feet, 5 inches tall, weighing 110 pounds. She has blonde hair and when last seen was wearing a blue blouse, gold slacks, and a blue car coat.

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — Backyard beekeeping may be a profitable hobby for some people, but their neighbors say that they're just getting stung. The agency also notes a growing number of protests have forced communities to pass laws prohibiting the hives.

Mansfield About Ready to Switch Filibuster Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana was reported today to be about ready to move to transfer a filibuster rule controversy from the Senate to a committee he heads.

Unless proponents of a rule change unexpectedly win a test vote which may come today or Wednesday, Mansfield will ask the Senate to postpone argument on the matter until later in the session and get to work on President-elect John F. Kennedy's legislative program.

Skirmish Continues

House Democrats continued to skirmish on Speaker Sam Rayburn's plans to end the House Rules Committee's power to block legislation.

Rayburn and Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., chairman of the Rules Committee, met secretly for almost an hour Monday in the speaker's office.

Neither would comment after the meeting, but it was reported that Rayburn turned down a compromise by Smith that would head off the threatened power of the committee of Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss.

As outlined last week by Smith, the compromise would have included assurance the committee would not bottle up Kennedy's legislative program.

A conservative coalition of four Republicans voting with Smith and Colmer has dominated the committee in the past.

House Not In Session

The House does not meet today, but Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, goes before the House Foreign Affairs Committee to review the world situation. Committee members were reported ready to question him closely on the situation in Laos.

Senate liberals — both Republicans and Democrats — may get a chance to test their muscles on the drive to make it easier to curb filibusters before Mansfield acts to sidetrack the subject matter.

The test could come on a move for "the previous question."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon already has held that this motion to cut off talk — which is not included in the Senate rules — is applicable to the effort to reduce the number of favorable votes needed to get debate.

For 51 Number

Two-thirds of those voting now must vote approval of a debate limitation. The liberals want to make the number 51 or, as an alternative, three-fifths of those voting.

Mansfield apparently believes the Senate is not going to uphold any Nixon ruling that the "previous question" motion is in order. If the Senate does not, rules change proponents will have to resort to a motion to table (kill) under new resolution to halt any filibuster that Southern opponents might mount.

In that sort of situation, the Democratic leader is expected to urge his colleagues to postpone action while the Senate Rules Committee he heads studies the proposals.

Both Mansfield and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant leader, told their colleagues Monday they hope the Senate can start voting today on some of the issues involved.

Dirksen For $1.10 Bill
In other action Monday, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Republican Senate leader, introduced a $1.10 per hour minimum wage bill.

Dirksen's bill is 15 cents per hour below that in legislation sponsored last year by Kennedy. Kennedy's bill passed the Senate but died as Congress adjourned.

Dirksen said he feared the higher minimum wage and broad coverage favored by Kennedy would have serious effects on the economy.

Senate committees have announced plans to begin hearings this week on two Kennedy Cabinet nominees.

Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon, who will be Kennedy's secretary of the treasury, will appear before the Finance Committee Wednesday. Dean Rusk, who will become secretary of state, appears before the Foreign Relations Committee Thursday.

University . . .

south of Atlanta, apparently to seek some new federal court order.

Vandiver announced at midnight Monday that he would cut off operating funds if integration came. Vandiver asked the legislature Monday night to repeal the law which would cut off funds to the university.

Vandiver, in tossing the red-hot political potato into the legislature's lap, speculated the university could be reopened within a week — apparently on an integrated basis — if the segregation law is repealed without delay.

"I will not be a party to defiance of the law as many would wish," Vandiver said in referring to U. S. Dist. Judge "A. Bostle's order to admit the Negroes. The governor said he had every confidence the students at the university would 'act as ladies and gentlemen' during the crisis.

About 2,000 white students trailed Holmes and Miss Hunter around the campus as they completed registration Monday, booing and yelling but offering them no violence. Earlier, nearly 3,000 students had signed petitions urging that the university be kept open even if integrated.

A-1: Black Sheath

The black crepe sheath is still a prime favorite for "little" winter evenings. Probably this is so because it takes so well to changes in accessories.

Brett Is Invited To Laws, Rule Meeting Jan. 11

The Laws and Rules committee of the Common Council has invited Fire Chief James M. Brett to meet with the committee at City Hall, Wednesday, Jan. 11, at 7:30 p. m. to discuss a fire code.

City Clerk Raymond A. McAndrew said Alderman Lawrence Woerner, chairman of the committee will conduct the meeting. He said the group also would discuss other legislation that would better protect and safeguard the lives and property of the citizens of Kingston.

Early Action Is Due by DeGaulle

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle is expected to move quickly to break the stalemate with the Algerian rebels while the psychological effect of his referendum victory is still fresh.

De Gaulle also is expected to announce soon his timetable — and detailed plans for the first part of the Algerian program: endorsed by the weekend vote in France and the rebellion-torn North African territory.

Algeria's Moslem majority, De Gaulle has promised, will have a much greater voice in a self-governing regime that will rule until peace is restored and the Algerians vote whether they want to be independent or linked with France.

Just how the new government will work has not been disclosed, and only De Gaulle knew the timetable for spelling out the details.

Popular enthusiasm in France for the stern president's victory for the polls was tempered by the fact that peace still was a long way off.

The voting also bolstered the rebel government-in-exile in Tunis because so many Algerian Moslems heeded its call to boycott the referendum. The rebel high command as a result was expected to hold firmly to its demands that De Gaulle treat it as the chief voice of the Moslems, and that he negotiate on Algeria's political future instead of only for a military cease-fire, as he has insisted.

Britain Seeking More Persons in Alleged Spy Case

LONDON (AP) — British intelligence agents today were believed seeking more persons involved in an alleged spy conspiracy centered on the top secret Portland navy research base.

Following a brief court hearing Monday for five persons accused of stealing secrets from the base, Scotland Yard obtained new warrants authorizing search of premises in London and western England.

Researchers at Portland, on the south coast, are testing the latest antisubmarine devices, many of them of revolutionary design produced in American laboratories.

Counterespionage agents have been told three areas of research would be priority targets for spies: design of sonar buoys, development of an aerial ASDIC listening apparatus, and progress on helicopter-carried homing torpedoes.

A full report on security measures at the base will be sent to the admiralty heading the British joint services mission in Washington and then will be forwarded to U. S. officials.

Three of the five under arrest are believed to be Canadians, though this was not confirmed in court. They are Peter J. Kroger, 50, a bookseller; his wife, Helen, 50; and Gordon A. Lonsdale, 37, who described himself as a company director.

The other two persons arrested are Henry F. Houghton, 55, and Ethel Gee, 46, both employees at the Portland base.

There has been no official indication of what nation the five are accused of spying for.

Arrest of the five Saturday came after eight months of investigation.

Rapaport Winner In Store Contest

Israel Rapaport, of the camera department at the Montgomery Ward store on North Front Street, was recently awarded a Ward Sales Leadership Club emblem for being one of 100 winners of a nationwide Montgomery Ward sales contest in which 25,000 sales people competed.

Winners were determined on the basis of the best sales performance for the three month period ending September 1960.

According to Sully Fleming, manager of the Kingston Ward store, these quarterly sales contests have been held since 1937 and competition is keen among sales people. "It is an honor for this store to have a winner in our company sales contest," said Fleming, "and it is possible because of our many loyal customers."

To Resume Tobin Contempt Action Minus Witnesses

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government plans to resume to contempt case against the executive director of the New York Port Authority today without calling any witnesses.

William Hitz, assistant U. S. attorney, told reporters there may, in fact, be no witnesses at all testifying against the defendant, Austin J. Tobin.

Only an abbreviated morning session was scheduled by Federal District Judge Luther W. Youngdahl because of other court business.

Hintz said he plans to use the time pointing out what he considers pertinent excerpts from the House report on the citation of Tobin for contempt of Congress. He said he hopes to complete his case Wednesday.

Tobin, whose trial opened Monday, is charged with contempt in his refusal to allow a House judiciary subcommittee to inspect certain Port Authority records. The subcommittee is headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

Better Year Due For Carpet Sales

CHICAGO (AP)—Carpet sales should pick up this year, despite a continuing threat from lower-priced foreign competition, Horace C. Jones, an industry leader, believes.

But another industry spokesman, W. Lyle Holmes, told a press conference Monday:

"I don't see much hope in competing price-wise with foreign manufacturers."

Holmes, board chairman of the American Carpet Institute, said the industry was considering further appeals for higher tariffs on imported products.

Jones, president of the James Lees and Sons Co., predicted an upturn in domestic sales in the second half of 1961. He said he based the forecast on the fact that retail carpet sales outtraded those of wholesalers and manufacturers in 1960.

New, commercial markets are developing, especially in bowling alleys and public schools, Jones said. Hospitals are showing a greater interest, and hotels, theaters and churches are increasing carpet yardage, Jones added.

Machine-woven imports totaled nearly 25 per cent of domestic shipments in 1960, up 8 per cent from 1959, Holmes said. Imports increased from Japan but decreased from Belgium.

Jones cited these "additional factors for optimism": New housing aid under discussion by the incoming administration of President-elect John F. Kennedy, more Americans moving than ever before and a greater interest in Herkimer Taxes Utilities Income To Gain $30,000

HERKIMER, N.Y. (AP)—A 1 per cent tax on the gross income that public utilities receive from consumers in this Herkimer County village will give the village $30,000 a year in additional revenue, officials estimate.

The Republic-controlled Village Board unanimously passed the levy Monday night, over the objection of a telephone-company representative.

John Murphy, resident manager of the New York Telephone Co., argued at a public hearing that the tax would impose an undue burden on telephone users.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 10, 1961

DIVIDENDS AND JELLY BEANS

Some time ago 40 eighth grade students in a school in New York State were faced with a bewildering problem. The solution they hit upon was an almost brand new approach in the study of the American economic system, according to The Exchange magazine, official publication of the New York Stock Exchange.

These youngsters had pooled some small change and bought a share of stock, after reviewing the prospects of various companies and selecting the one they thought the soundest. Then came their first dividend—one dime. That sum is not divisible by 40, so they bought a dime's worth of jelly beans and thus distributed their profit.

More and more school children are learning the risks and rewards of shareownership these days. The Exchange magazine adds. This means that Johnny can read the stock tables and that substantial numbers of youthful capitalists are turning to the financial sections of newspapers as well as to the sports and comics. The long-range significance of this growing movement is a big one. The adults of tomorrow will be better versed in the whys and wherefores of the American system than their forebears—and they'll have a better understanding of what capitalism means and does. A stronger America will be the result.

CLAIMS VS. FACTS

A news item in The New York Times reports a leading economist as saying that "claims of the Soviet Union that its economic system was more efficient than that of the United States could not be supported by the facts."

The economist is John M. Cassels, of the Rockefeller Office. If present growth rates are maintained, he said, Russia's per capita output will not equal ours for more than a century, which is a far cry from Khrushchev's contention that she will pass us by 1970.

Mr. Cassels does not sell Russia short. He describes her as a "formidable antagonist" and every informed person will agree with that. But as we keep a wary round-the-clock eye on Soviet attainments, both real and alleged, let's not make the foolish and dangerous mistake of selling ourselves short.

ONE VOTE!

In every election millions of Americans who possess the right of franchise fail to exercise it. Apparently they reason that one vote doesn't amount to anything.

Well, if they can think at all, the last election should cause them to think again. The official returns show that Mr. Kennedy's margin over Mr. Nixon was under 112,000 votes—out of a total which approached 70 million. The President-elect's edge was the smallest in relation to the total vote in all of our history.

An especially dramatic example of the importance of every vote is provided by the newest state, Hawaii. At first, Mr. Nixon was thought to have taken the state with a 141-vote majority. More recent tabulations gave it to Senator Kennedy—by a 21-vote margin, out of just under 185,000 cast!

Whether or not a full vote would have changed the results is beside the point. The general election of 1960, in which the stakes were never higher, should make every non-voter who could have gone to the polls thoroughly ashamed of himself.

'SCARE CAMPAIGNS'

Various observers have begun to question whether traffic safety "scare campaigns" actually reduce the number of accidents. The question is one that should be considered, especially since that may lead to better ways of doing the job.

Recently a Columbia University expert on safety not only asserted that "scare campaigns" fail to reduce accidents but said that they may "do more harm than good." This could be. Slogans are often forgotten or ignored by reckless drivers, and they

THE CASTRO MISTAKE

In charge of our Cuban affairs in the State Department was until recently William A. Wieland who has been identified as the Arthur William Montenegro for whom I have been looking in the record. This was not announced by the State Department which has full responsibility in the matter, but the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee has been studying the question of Wieland's conduct and purposes.

There are three men who have the name Montenegro and this produces some confusion. Therefore, it is necessary to say that the Arthur William Montenegro who is being discussed is William Wieland and that he comes by both names quite properly; the Wieland name being his at birth, the Montenegro name coming later when his mother married a second husband by that name.

So we need not get too excited about the use of two names, but we are justified in wondering why this man was entrusted with our Cuban affairs and if the Senate Committee does the job thoroughly, we may find out how men are recruited into the State Department and how they are promoted. We may discover what are the qualifications for being a deskman who can by the flick of a ball-point pen get the United States into the mess which is now our Cuban situation. The same thing happened with regard to Communist China in the years 1945, 1946 and 1947 when Alger Hiss and Owen Lattimore and the Institute of Pacific Relations were manufacturing American policy which lost us a continent and gained for us our most pernicious enemy. It might have been otherwise had the policy of our government not been influenced so positively by men whose interest was to support Soviet Russia rather than the United States, although they were American citizens. It took a long time for Americans to overcome the false propaganda let loose in this country that these Communists were only agrarian reformers.

Dean Rusk, who is to be Secretary of State in the Kennedy Administration, speaking on May 18, 1951, said:

"It is not my purpose, in these few moments this evening, to go into specific elements of our own national policy in the present situation. But we can tell our friends in China that the United States will not acquiesce in the degradation which is being forced upon them. We do not recognize the authorities in Peking for what they pretend to be. The Peking regime may be a colonial Russian government — a Slavic Manchukuo on a larger scale. It is not the Government of China. It does not pass the first test. It is not Chinese."

"It is not entitled to speak for China in the community of nations. It is entitled only to the fruits of its own conduct — the fruits of aggression upon which it is now willfully, openly and senselessly embarked."

This is true but it took too many years to be said officially and when it was said the mischief had already been done. Similarly, in the Cuban situation, we have come to realize that we have taken more than we can bear, but why did we need to take it at all? Was it because William Wieland was calling the turns? Was it because Roy Rubottom was diffident? Was it because the Fifth Floor of the State Department, where the great men sit, never knows what goes on in that sprawling building until it is too late to do anything but make ready for war or appeasement?

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee ought to examine this situation to discover not an individual whose judgment was bad or whose conduct was vicious, but a pattern of operations which makes it possible for incompetent and indecent persons to become associated with the State Department and to rise to positions where they can commit the United States to a policy. The Cuban situation ought to be studied from the standpoint that it is an altogether unnecessary advantage for Soviet Russia which might have been averted had the control of American policy been where it should be under our Constitution, in the hands of the President of the United States, not of a deskman in the State Department.

This is a matter which affects the internal security of the United States and should be dealt with as such, no matter what Senatorial courtesy requires.

Precautions in Protecting Infants' Eyes and Ears

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The eyes and ears of infants are delicate structures. Each may be threatened and their functional capacities impaired or even destroyed by acts of carelessness that many of us commit without realizing the possible consequences of what we are doing.

Transmission of the herpes virus to young babies through kissing has recently been held responsible for an eye infection (viral conjunctivitis) that occasionally results in blindness.

According to Sir Stewart Duke-Elder, a leading English ophthalmologist, newly introduced antibiotics have eliminated most of the bacteria that used to cause infantile conjunctivitis. As a result, the herpes virus, which is resistant to all "miracle drugs," has become increasingly dangerous to the new born who have few protective antibodies with which to fight off a lowly organism that usually can do no more than produce a "cold sore" on the lip of the kisser.

Since baby kissing is an act of affection only to the kisser, it would not seem too unreasonable to request well-wishers to bestow their herpes organisms on the sole of the infant's foot. Particularly if they are suffering from an upper respiratory infection of any kind.

Bottle-feeding infants, while they are lying flat or propped up insufficiently, has been held responsible for ear infections by a group of New Zealand pediatricians. Over a 7-year period, a group of reliable observers has collected a series of 242 babies whose middle ear infections are attributed to the position of the child during feeding (positional otitis media). And, according to this study, both prematurity and nasal obstruction from whatever cause add materially to the risk.

As a natural conclusion to their study, the New Zealand group advises mothers to feed their infants in the upright position until they are at least three months old, and for a longer time if the baby was premature or if it suffers from nasal obstruction.

Since neither of these recommendations requires any great sacrifice on the part of any of us, there seems no valid excuse not to heed them.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON

Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — In the fight over reform of the House Rules Committee in the new Congress the essential background is how the committee got its bad name.

Rep. Frank Thompson (D-N.J.) one of its most severe critics, charges that the House Rules Committee under Chairman Howard Smith (D-Va.) "runs the entire Congress."

Thompson further claims that Smith, in daily collaboration with Republican Leader Charles Halleck of Indiana, keeps together the combination of Southern Democrats and Republican reactionaries by which the entire House is denied the right to vote on essential legislation.

THERE HAS BEEN A RULES COMMITTEE ever since the first Congress in 1789, when there was only one other committee—ways and means—and the House had fewer than 100 members. All business was then done by the Committee of the Whole House.

From 1858 to 1910 the speaker himself was a rules committee member and he selected the other members. In 1880 it was made a standing committee with five members.

Rules committee powers were increased gradually from 1883 to 1890 when special orders for the consideration of all House business became its exclusive privilege.

By strict exercise of these powers the rules committee was able to sift the business coming from the other legislative committees and decide which bills could be considered on the House floor and in what order.

By forcing amendments to bills as a condition to giving them clearance for House action, the rules committee was able to substitute its own judgment for that of the legislative committees. In this way it became the House governing committee, exercising deliberate speed over hastily drawn and bad bills.

THEN IN THE 1911 HOUSE REVOLUTION against the dictatorial powers of Speaker "Uncle Joe" Cannon of Illinois, the committee was increased to 11—later to 12 members.

The revolution barred the speaker from membership but left the committee's own powers intact.

In 1924 the committee chairman's authority to "pocket veto" bills approved by his committee was taken away from him. Later it was required that if a bill cleared by the committee is not called up for action within seven days, any member of the committee may ask that it be called up as a matter of privilege and the speaker must recognize him for this.

Another reform effected in 1910 was the discharge rule, which was amended in 1924 and 1926. This now provides that a petition signed by a majority of the House—219 members—can force the rules committee to clear for House action any measure it may be holding up.

The last reform of rules committee procedure was in 1949, when the 21-day rule was adopted.

It provided that if a bill has been held up by the rules committee for more than 21 days, the chairman of the legislative committee that reported the bill can demand that it be taken up by the House on discharge day—second and fourth Mondays of each month. But this created a log jam and it was in effect only in 1949-50.

There is, however, one other important device by which rules committee bottlenecks may be broken. This is the "Calendar Wednesday" procedure which permits any reported bill to be called up. This privilege cannot be dispensed with unless the House gives unanimous consent.

THE RULES COMMITTEE FUNCTIONED as the responsible agent for majority party control and for speeding enactment of administration programs until the New Deal. Then in 1937 three conservative Democrats joined with four Republicans for bipartisan control to curb Roosevelt reform proposals.

With the exception of the 80th Congress and the 83rd, which the Republicans controlled, the rules committee has been under bipartisan coalition majorities.

The committee's 12 members in the last Congress were divided roughly six conservative and six liberal. The conservatives are two southern Democrats and four Republicans. The six liberals are all Democrats. But some of them frequently cross over and vote with the conservatives. The votes are no votes, and this further serves to stymie legislation.

But a compilation by Rep. Thompson last year listed only 27 cases in which the rules committee had refused to clear major legislative measures in the last 12 years.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

The year 1861 was a war year. This year is a century since the Civil War and no doubt much will be written about it. I have several volumes of the Semi-Centennial Memorial Photographic History of the Civil War published for the New York Review Co. in 1912.

The Mail Must Go Through! was as important or perhaps more so during the Civil War as during peace times. The above book, Volume 8 gives it in pictures and description. In 1864 the post office at the headquarters of the Army of the Potomac was taking care of thousands of letters weekly, unpostmaster, William B. Hasslett. No matter how far he moved the Army was from railroads and ordinary means of communication, each regiment in the field had a special postmaster, generally appointed by the colonel. He sold stamps to the men, received their letters, and at stated periods made a trip to the sort of main post office.

As a rule this postmaster was relieved of all other duties. Each regiment in the Army of the Potomac had a post-boy, who carried the letters of his command to the brigade headquarters. The mails of the various regiments were put in one pouch and went to division headquarters, and then to corps headquarters, where mail agents received and delivered them to principal depot of the Army to the agent from general headquarters. They show pictures of two horse mail trucks, plainly marked U. S. Mail 2nd Corps, etc. No doubt they had to make their way through seas of mud, swamp, country roads in name only, but the mail usually got through, even in the 1860's.

Such a simple thing like coffee, yet it was as important a hundred years ago to the Civil War soldiers as it is to us now. This book shows and tells how the huge pots, kettles and coffee boilers seen about the winter cantonments were left behind when the Army went out in the field, and every man became his own cook. Each man learned how to make his own coffee in his own battered tin mug, with brown sugar seasoning and swallow it hot. They also found out that the bayonet or ramrod made a good bread or bacon toaster.

Another important item in any war, the Civil War of 1861

Robert Kennedy Seen Due For Rigid Senate Scrutiny

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 — Of all the Cabinet appointments, the one that the Senate will soon debate and examine most carefully before giving its "advice and consent" will be that of Robert F. Kennedy, the nominee for Attorney General.

Aged thirty-five and with no record in courtroom practice of law, the younger Kennedy receives the appointment partly as a political reward and partly as the trusted lieutenant of his brother, the President-elect.

What kind of Attorney General will he turn out to be? For one thing, he will make a much better record if he gives up politics than if he continues to participate in political activity.

Non-Political Arm

The Department of Justice is basically a non-political department of the government. Though occasionally there have been criticisms alleging political bias when certain prosecutions were carried on, the department during most administrations has managed to steer clear of politics.

5. The Attorney General and his staff review all executive orders and draft legislation desired by the President.

6. The Attorney General appears before Congressional committees to testify on proposed legislation concerned with law enforcement and the judiciary.

Selects Court Officers

7. The Attorney General selects for recommendation to the President the nominees for Federal judgeships and also the 91 United States attorneys and 600 assistant attorneys throughout the country who are the chief prosecuting officers for the Federal government in each judicial district. Congress is being asked by the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee to create sixty-three new Federal judgeships.

8. The Attorney General is responsible for the enforcement of all Federal laws involving crime, including those relating to kidnapping, bribery, counterfeiting, narcotics, extortion, perjury and subversive activities and espionage.

9. The Attorney General enforces the anti-trust laws, conducting both civil and criminal suits.

10. The Attorney General has complete control of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and may order or discontinue its investigations.

11. The Attorney General is responsible for enforcement of the internal revenue laws in all manner of tax cases.

12. The Attorney General directs all civil-rights cases involving the Federal government, including, of course, all school desegregation, orders of the courts.

Does the public realize what an Attorney General has to do and how important it is for the American people, especially the legal profession to have confidence in the Department of Justice? Here are several points to be borne in mind.

1. As top man in the enforcement of Federal laws, the Attorney General is the chief legal advisor to the President and a member of his cabinet, in which he ranks fourth.

2. The Attorney General furnishes advice and opinion on legal questions to the President and also to the other cabinet officers when so requested.

3. The Attorney General construes the laws under which the executive departments act and furnishes legal counsel in all Federal cases.

4. The Attorney General directs all suits before the Supreme Court of the United States in which the Federal government is concerned. He may appear before the Supreme Court to argue a case of great importance, though this usually is left to the Solicitor General.

13. The Attorney General must enforce the labor-racketeering laws, including cases that involve misuse of union funds or extortion of money from employers.

All in all, it's a formidable list. Mr. Kennedy could, to be sure, change the nature of the job of the Attorney General. He could make it more of a general management of a big department and depend on assistants with more experience than he has had in the practice of law to do the legal work of the department.

Reported Skillful

Young Kennedy is a tireless worker and is reported to be a skillful administrator. He could make a creditable record as the head of the Department of Justice, despite his lack of experience as a trial lawyer. But will he be judged on the basis of his work in his own department, or will attention center on what he does in the field of politics in behalf of his brother's administration?

For there are countless things a cabinet officer can do right along to advance the political fortunes of his chief, especially if the latter is likely to be up for re-election four years later. So far as the American people are concerned, it seems clear that they do not wish to see politics influencing the judgment of an Attorney General any more than they would care to see it affecting the decisions of the Secretary of State or the Secretary of Defense.

Bar Will Be Skeptical

If Robert Kennedy abandons all political activities and concentrates on running the Department of Justice impartially, and if he efficiently administers this big department—which has about 31,000 employees—he will be regarded as a good Attorney General by the public. But probably will always be hard to convince the members of the American Bar Association that a President need not appoint a top-notch lawyer to be the Attorney General of the United States.

Police, 2 Women Indicted in Utica, Charged With Lies

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—A high police official, a detective and two women, one an admitted brothel operator, were under indictment today on charges of lying to and conspiring to hide evidence from a special grand jury.

Two indictments charging first-degree perjury and conspiracy were returned Monday against:

James N. Laino, 52, deputy city police chief; Edward Francisco, 34, detective on the city police force; Helen (Ma) Davis, 72, of Verona Beach, who is seeking to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court a one-year jail term for operating a brothel; and Virginia Clark, 45, also of Verona Beach, allegedly a former employee of Miss Davis.

Each was freed in $10,000 bail after pleading innocent at arraignment.

First-degree perjury is a felony; conspiracy, a misdemeanor. The grand jury has been probing vice and crime in Utica and Oneida County since 1958.

One indictment accused Laino of lying about partnership in a now-defunct plumbing company and of lying in denying that a worker had been on the city payroll when he allegedly had been employed by the plumbing concern in 1957.

The other indictment charged that all four lied about the identity of a man who visited Miss Davis' home last year and about the purpose of the visit.

It further accused the four of agreeing to conceal evidence and to meet after they had testified before the grand jury.

The two indictments charged Laino with three counts of first-degree perjury and one of conspiracy. Francisco was charged with two counts of perjury and one of conspiracy. The women faced one count on each charge.

A previous grand jury had accused Laino of first-degree perjury in 1958. That indictment was dismissed.

In the current investigation, four city police officers and two former city officials are scheduled to go on trial Monday on charges that they conspired in the operation of brothels.

Birthday Salute From Ike

Nixon's Political Stock Gets Boost at D. C. Fete

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon's political stock has been strengthened by a birthday tribute in which President Eisenhower led the cheering section.

The occasion was a 48th anniversary celebration Monday night at which Eisenhower praised the defeated 1960 presidential candidate for services "invaluable to government." He said Nixon was "a warm friend."

More than 1,000 Republicans paid $12.50 per seat for a dinner party honoring Nixon and his wife Pat. The party, sponsored by the Republican Capitol Hill Club, was held in a downtown hotel.

Nixon, who lost one of history's closest presidential contests in November to John F. Kennedy, assured his admirers he would do everything in his power for the Republican party in the years ahead.

He said that while "nothing succeeds like success in political life," he was grateful for the people who came to shake his hand and urge him to continue his leadership of the Republican party.

"We lost the election," he said,

"but I find here tonight not people who care whether you win or lose, but people who are our friends."

The President, in a buoyant mood, told the diners he had expected to stay only a short time. He said he expected "short shrift after which they will throw me out after the soup."

But he stayed on for 3½ hours, explaining he was hungry and wanted to be around for all of the party. And, he added, if he left early he wouldn't get to make a speech.

"The one thing I like to do is talk to Republicans," he said.

Nixon was obviously pleased at Eisenhower's assertion that he had been one of the mainstays on his administration and a personal helper. The President pointed out that he came primarily to express personal appreciation for Nixon's willingness to undertake any chore.

City Firefighters Choose Officers

Officers for 1961 were elected Monday night at the annual meeting of Local 461 Kingston Paid Fire Fighters Benevolent Association held in Odd Fellows Hall on Brewster Street.

Elected were Clayton A. Stalter Jr., president; Francis T. Coughlin, re-elected secretary; John J. Berardi, re-elected treasurer. Election of vice president was deferred until the February meeting.

Trustees elected were Donald J. Williams, Leo B. Cragan and John Haber Jr.

Leaders Say Ike To Send Congress Balanced Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders said today President Eisenhower will send Congress a balanced, nonpolitical budget for the fiscal year starting July 1. They also said the budget for the current year will end up in the black.

Eisenhower's budget message is to go to the Capitol Monday.

The description of it as balanced and nonpolitical came from Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana. The Senate and House GOP leaders, after they had conferred with Eisenhower for more than two hours. They said most of the conversations concerned the budget.

Dirksen told newsmen at the White House: "This budget would be the same if Dwight Eisenhower were to continue in office."

Dirksen and Halleck declined to give the budget figures.

But they said the budget provides for projects that are necessary for the national well-being yet will "keep our fiscal house in order by living within our revenues."

Halleck, taking note of various "task force" recommendations to President-elect John F. Kennedy, said some of these spending recommendations could throw the budget completely out of balance. It was the last meeting of the Republican leaders with Eisenhower before he leaves office Jan. 20.

U.S. Facing . . .

to dictate the price of silver. Furthermore, since the stockpile also furnishes the 40 million ounces used each year to mint new U.S. coins, the department would have to go into the market to buy silver.

Uses Expanding

In the present supply and demand situation, the price of silver would rise if the Treasury ceiling were broken. The upward price pressure stems largely from strikes which cut production in 1959 and 1960, coupled with big silver purchases by France which has adopted a heavy silver franc. In addition, the mint is using more silver for coinage and industrial uses are expanding.

One reason the Treasury hasn't been anxious to boost its fixed price is that the biggest benefits would go to foreigners. The United States uses about 100 million ounces of silver a year, of which about 65 million ounces are imported.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market early this afternoon pushed its way above the recovery peak of last August. Trading was heavy.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .50 at 225.60 with the industrials up .50, rails up .90 and utilities off .10.

If the gain were held by the close, it would officially put the AP average above the Aug. 24 high of 225.20 and mark a retrace of over-all losses since the second week of January 1960.

Gains of most key stocks were small, only a few going to a point or so. Small losses were scattered through the list. As gains were stretched, the market was having heavy going.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.30 at 625.72.

Corporate bonds were mixed. Governments were about unchanged. Dealings were slow.

Franklin H. Hazard Speaker At OCS' Bennett Dedication

Franklin H. Hazard, assistant superintendent of schools, Kingston Consolidated System, will be the principal speaker at dedication services for the new Regional R. Bennett elementary school Sunday, Jan. 15, at Boiceville. He will speak on the subject, "A Time for Greatness."

The dedicatory program for the new 14-room school will begin at 3 p. m. in the building's all-purpose room. All residents of the district are cordially invited to attend.

Hazard, who was named to the assistant superintendent's post in May of 1959, came to Kingston from the Binghamton school system. He was director of elementary education at Chenango Valley Central Schools, where he supervised some 90 teachers and 2,200 pupils.

The principal speaker attended Fredonia State Teachers College and received his BS degree in education at the University of Oklahoma in 1938. He continued graduate study at New York University and received his Masters in education at Alfred University in 1947.

Hazard brought more than 18 years of experience in elementary education to his Kingston post. He has been active in the New York State Association of Elementary School Principals and is a member of the executive committee of the New York State Heart Association. He is a member of the American Legion and a major in the U. S. Army Reserve.

Program Announced
The dedicatory program as announced by District Principal William H. Deming follows:

Introduction, Mrs. Jean Suloff, vocal music teacher; Pledge of Allegiance, Ronald P. Vanni, Director of Elementary Education; Invocation, the Rev. Clarence Murray, pastor, Methodist Church, Willow; presentation of flag, James Bionette, representative, The American Hotel Association; welcome address, Philip Gordon, president Board of Education; introduction of platform guests, Principal Deming; introduction of guest speaker, Reginald R. Bennett, district superintendent of schools; dedicatory address, Franklin H. Hazard; presentation of key to building, Philip Gordon; acceptance of key, Ronald P. Vanni; benediction, the Rev. John Gordon, pastor of St. Francis de Sales, Phoenixia; student dedication, first grade students directed by Mrs. Irene Frost.

Refreshments will be served following the program by members of the Oontela P.T.A.

The Bennett school, named after the district superintendent, is located on the central site of the Oontela Central School District in Boiceville. The new building contains 14 classrooms, complete facilities for health and library services, physical education, music, art and other special programs. Complete cafeteria facilities have been provided to serve an enrollment of approximately 400 pupils. A central sound system has been installed making each room and employee readily accessible for immediate contact.

Mt. Marion Area Residents Learn About New Plant

An overwhelming amount of information regarding the operation of the proposed Hudson Valley Lightweight Aggregate Corporation plant now under construction near Churchland was presented to nearly 60 Mt. Marion area residents at a public meeting in Mt. Marion School Monday night.

The informational meeting, sponsored by Mt. Marion Civic Association, was described by John F. Roderer, association president as "most orderly."

Roderer introduced Councilman Frank Greco, local news editor Arthur DeCelle and Andrew P. Vozdick, chairman of Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce industrial committee, as the three citizens who toured lightweight aggregate plants in the south to learn about the operation of such plants.

He also introduced Vincent Amrod, Chamber president, who gave some background of the Chamber's participation and activities in bringing new industry to the Saugerties area.

William Musser, general manager of the new plant, answering questions regarding blasting in the shale quarry, said the dynamite charges would be about 500 pounds and the tremor from such charges would not be felt outside the quarry area. He said the firm plans to check if charges of this size have any effect on the surrounding area and they will be guided accordingly.

Musser said the company is currently constructing a kiln on the site and expects to be in operation by June. He said the firm will hire approximately 25 people from the area this year and would increase to about 70 next year.

Musser explained that this was not a cement plant and the product was clinker not a powder with its accompanying dust. Vozdick showed about 400 feet of color movies taken at the various plants of the firm in the south. The film presented visual evidence regarding the operation of the plants.

Councilman Greco told the gathering about the plant tour and that he had talked to families near the southern plants. He said the people there told him they had no problems with the company.

3,700 Others Affected

In addition, 3,700 other railroad workers are affected. Robert O. Boyd, a member of the National Mediation Board, called both sides to continued negotiations today.

The strike tied up nine Hudson River ferries which carry railroad commuters between Manhattan and New Jersey, 51 tugboats, several hundred barges, carfloats and lighters.

A spokesman for the New York City Markets Department predicted that the immediate impact of the strike would be small. It was expected that fresh fruits and vegetables, which normally are carried across the Hudson on carfloats, could be moved by truck.

The strikers are members of three unions united in the New York Harbor Railroad Council. The unions are the Railroad Marine Division of the Seafarers International Union, two locals of the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots; and one local of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association.

The railroads are represented by the New York Harbor Carriers Conference Committee.

Wages Secondary
The principal issue in the dispute is the setting up of scales for manning boats, with wages a secondary issue.

Union pickets were ordered to two-score marine installations use by the 11 railroads in New York City and New Jersey, and to a New Haven Railroad transfer yard at Maybrook, in Orange County, N. Y.

Picketing at Maybrook was in an effort to prevent any diversion there of rail freight normally carried by boat from New Jersey.

Bids State . . .
and special voting procedures, to allow persons to vote in presidential elections even though they were not eligible for local or state-wide elections.

Would Allow Applications
Sen. Fred J. Rath, R-Utica, proposed the measure to permit persons whose chauffeur licenses have been suspended or revoked to apply for limited chauffeur licenses for operation of vehicles owned by employers.

Assemblyman Eugene Goddard, R-Monroe, introduced the bill to ratify the amendment to the federal Constitution. The fishing bill was sponsored by George R. Metcalf, R-Auburn.

Long Term Risk Cancels Early Gain in Switch

Q "I own 50 shares of Beneficial Finance and 40 shares of National Dairy. I wish to sell both stocks and buy 130 shares of American Can, which would bring almost twice as much in dividends as the other two. What do you think about this switch?"

A "I think you have shown considerable intelligence and ingenuity in working out what looks on the surface to be a pretty good switch. I don't advise you to make it, however. To do so would be to 'trade downhill,' which violates a major investment principle."

You would be moving out of two strong, rising-earnings situations into a stock that has been deteriorating since 1955, when earnings were $3.04 a share. With a single exception, Canco's net has declined in each subsequent year and probably was no higher than $2.25 a share in 1960. The latter figure afforded scant coverage for the $2.00 dividend currently being paid.

Then there is the question of protection of capital. Beneficial and National Dairy moved up sharply in price during the 1960 decline whereas American Can declined almost steadily. I think you should hold on to your two strong stocks. If you must have more income, I suggest you switch to Consolidated Edison. Such a switch would bring you about $50 more per year than you are now getting, and would keep you in a top quality situation."

Q "My broker recommended Tex-Star Oil & Gas shares. Can you tell me something about the company's operations and do you agree with my broker?"

A "I think your broker's advice is excellent. Tex-Star is a youthful producer with a growing interest in highly profitable gas gathering. Gathering involves moving gas from small operators to major pipelines. Long term contracts mean stability while rising demand provides growth opportunities. Tex-Star's earnings have about doubled in each of the past two years."

Tug Crews Quit In N.Y. Harbor

NEW YORK (AP) — Ferryboat and tugboat crews of 11 railroads struck today in New York harbor, halting movement of large amounts of food, fuel and freight and forcing 30,000 commuters to seek other means of transportation.

The strike of 660 railroad marine division workers began at midnight in a dispute over the size of tugboat crews and union pay demands.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The new report on the number out of work — and especially the prospect that the ranks will grow — will add to the pressure on congress to do something about the jobless problem.

Ten days before he takes office, the president-elect already has been advised by a number of task forces to take steps aimed at various and quite different goals but that also add up to much more federal spending.

And that, at least in theory, usually translates into making more jobs — at least for the time being.

A specific salve offered for the jobless ailment is an increase in unemployment payments or their extension over longer periods.

An intermediate cure proposed is a cut in income tax payments or a moratorium on withholding taxes. This is aimed at giving consumers more money to spend, thus increasing effective demand for goods and services and as a final result stimulating the hiring of workers.

More government spending would have a longer-term effect, since such projects take time to get under way.

Remains to Be Seen

What the president-elect will recommend to Congress, and what the law makers will do about it, remains to be seen.

More defense spending seems sure of being voted. The hassle will be on how to spend the additional funds.

Considerable controversy may greet any proposals by the White House for a large federal outlay for education, whether for teachers' pay or for school construction.

Increased foreign aid spending is favored by those worried by the Communist inroads in Africa, Asia and Latin America. Opponents have a new talking point just now — more foreign aid could boost the deficit in our international payments and lay the base for still more loss of our gold. The final stake: confidence in the American dollar.

Matters for Action

More spending for health and welfare projects, especially just now for medical care for the aging, is being vigorously pushed. Federal outlays to spur housing construction, a speedup in highway spending, more slum clearing projects, increased development of natural resources — all are pushed by various task forces, or by state and local governments, or by private groups dedicated to them.

Even while Congress is considering whatever such requests the new president may pass along, another problem may be rising.

Incoming Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon says he wants a balanced federal budget, or at the very least a deficit small enough to add but little to inflationary pressures that would undermine the dollar.

He could find himself in conflict with any Cabinet colleagues who want big spending programs for their departments.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Broadcasting Company introduced its new vice president, James C. Hagerty, at a news conference Monday. It also disclosed a bit of its plans to compete with the other two TV networks in the area of news and public affairs.

Hagerty will move into John Daly's old chair as head of news and special events two days after the presidential inauguration ends his job as press secretary to Dwight D. Eisenhower. Introduced to a roomful of reporters, Hagerty said he plans to strengthen greatly ABC's reporting staff, particularly in Washington and abroad, but warned that the changes would be neither dramatic nor fast.

He did say, however, that he expects to stay permanently behind the cameras—not take a broadcaster's role as Daly did.

Despite medical care and extensive surgery, CBS' "The Witness" series will succumb after its Feb. 2 show. The end, when it comes, is the result of faulty ratings which even a change of climate—from an early to later slot in the Thursday night schedule—failed to improve.

Before it departs forever, there is one show of special interest: the simulated investigation into the activities of Ma Barker next Thursday, Ma, as crime aficionados know, was the leader of a vicious gang of robbers and kidnapers who raised her four sons to follow in her footsteps and who was shot down by federal agents 25 years ago.

Recommended tonight: "Salute to a Patriot," NBC, 10 EST—a tribute to President Eisenhower, with appearances by John F. Kennedy, Richard M. Nixon, Nehru, Konrad Adenauer, Harold Macmillan and other world and national leaders.

For ages the theory that honesty is the best policy has taken some pretty hard knocks and survived, though groggy.

The successful man is the one who is wise enough to get as many good people around him as can get.

Your Best

Whether you'll try for the goal that's afar
Or be contented to stay where you are,
Take it or leave it. Here's something to do,
Just think it over. It's all up to you!
What do you wish? To be known as a shirk
Known as a good man who's willing to work,
Scorned for a loafer or praised by your chief
Rich man or poor man or beggar or thief?
Eager or earnest or dull through the day
Honest or crooked? It's you who must say!
You must decide in the face of the test
Whether you'll shirk it or give it your best.

He painted out the word leaving just, "Fish Sold Here."
Why use "Sold"? asked the next customer. You're not giving

A moment later another customer came in. I don't see the use of that sign "Fish" up there, said he, when you can smell them a mile away.

Painting Pays Golden-Ager Double Dividends at 83

William B. 83, who never touched a paint brush until he was 75, now has a hobby that pays double dividends.

People pay $25 for his oil paintings. You can imagine what a thrill this gives a man in his 80s.

But he doesn't keep the money. The second beneficiary of his hobby is his church's building fund.

Paintings aren't the only output of this remarkable octogenarian. He's on the job five days a week, sometimes six, as a machinist.

"I worked 50 years for the railroad," William B. a widower told me. "After I retired, I had a lucky break."

"My brother-in-law, who owns an incubator manufacturing firm, offered me a job. Now I'm getting social security and a salary as well."

"I started taking painting lessons when I was 75. I had a good teacher."

William B's home is a hotel for retired people. Here he lives inexpensively, takes care of his own room. The hotel is in the downtown area of a big city, handy to buses, stores and movies.

"I brought my swivel rocker with me, so I'd feel at home," he says.

Evenings and weekends, William B dons a blue smock and sits down at his easel. He already has two painting pupils, residents of the hotel. He doesn't charge for lessons.

On the walls of his room hang many of his oils, some of them copies of Audubon prints.

"Often I walk into an art gallery, look at the expensive painting, memorize it and reproduce it," he says. "One of my most popular paintings is a head of Christ. I have sold eight of these paintings."

The hotel manager, impressed with William B's hobby, gave the octogenarian space for a one-man show in the hotel corridor outside the dining room.

"I'm one of the lucky ones," said William B. "I'm very grateful I can pass on a little of what I know to others. Maybe they can have as much fun with painting as I have had."

Area Engineers Arrange Meeting In Glenham Plant

The Mid-Hudson Section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will hold its monthly meeting on Wednesday, January 18, at the Texaco Research Center, Glenham at 8 p. m.

R. V. Russo, IBM liaison engineer will address the society. His topic "Testing Modern Aircraft Armament" will include a discussion of general armament testing, test facilities of the Air Research and Development Command and a description of various Air Force test centers and proving grounds. Aircraft tested includes all combat aircraft and the B-52 and B-58 bombers.

Mr. Russo will describe a primary mission which includes fitting, carrying and firing weapons and the accuracy, effectiveness and reliability of aircraft guns. A special F105 B gunnery problem involving hazardous gun gag concentrations solved by the speaker will be described.

Mr. Russo, a native of Hope-well Junction, received his BME in 1956 and his MS in Management in 1957 from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. He was employed as a lubrication engineer at the Texaco Research Center while attending school. He served as a project officer from 1957-1960 at the U. S. A. F. Proving Grounds Center, Eglin A. F. Base, Florida. His duties included ground and aerial evaluation of aircraft armament systems. Mr. Russo is presently employed as a liaison engineer in the IBM Product Development Laboratory Purchasing Department, Poughkeepsie. His duties involve the solution of engineering problems arising between laboratory engineers and vendors.

Mr. Russo is a member of A.S.M.E., A.S.T.M.E., and the American Ordnance Society.

Becomes Advisory Engineer at IBM

RICHARD C. BRAEN

The appointment of Richard C. Braen of Woodstock as an advisory engineer in the disk file department has been announced by Henry E. Cooley, manager of the IBM Federal Systems Division Command Control Center engineering laboratory here.

He is responsible for the mechanical design phase of the single disk file project.

Braen joined IBM in mid-1950 as a customer engineer in New York City, transferred to early SAGE computer development in Poughkeepsie in 1954 and was named associate engineer at Kingston in early 1956 and staff engineer two years later. In late 1958 he was named a project engineer in vertical drum design, a post he has held until his present appointment.

Braen is a member of Tau Beta Pi engineering society. A veteran of four years' service with the U. S. Navy, he is a graduate of Rutgers University with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering.

Mr. Braen, his wife, Lois Jean, and children, Richard, 4, and Susan, 1, reside on Old Witch-tree Rd., Woodstock.

A Valuable Press Secretary Bows Out

Hagerty, Mouthpiece for Ike, Master of Details, Problems

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—For eight years a take-charge man with big eyeglasses and more than enough chin did an extraordinary job of making his boss, the President of the United States, look good.

Now James C. Hagerty, President Eisenhower's press secretary with a beat of a temper and so much self-assurance he could hold a surplus sale, is leaving.

Invaluable Aide

When he turned in his resignation, Eisenhower said he had been invaluable. And indeed he was.

Eisenhower admittedly didn't do much newspaper reading. Hagerty, a 51-year-old grandfather and former newspaperman, was to a large extent the President's eyes and ears.

He was more than that. He not only was a buffer between the President and the press to a degree unmatched in this century, he was also Eisenhower's mouth-piece.

No Blabbermouth

But he was no blabbermouth. He never got his devotion to news mixed up with his loyalty to Eisenhower. He never said anything to embarrass his boss. He didn't make slips.

Hagerty was a master of two things which a lot of press relations men never learn: He paid attention to details and informed himself on problems he had to handle.

Seem simple? It's amazing how many people in Washington don't do either.

In time Hagerty became Eisenhower's scout, a kind of private emissary, who went ahead of the President when he planned a trip abroad and arranged for his safety and convenience.

Almost Policy Advisor

He became such a strong and established figure in the group around Eisenhower that he was almost certainly an advisor on policy.

Hagerty was unchallenged within the administration as emperor of his special domain from the time he took charge of the news about Eisenhower's heart attack in 1955.

His forthrightness in keeping the country informed at that critical time was widely admired. He seemed a lot less forthright when Eisenhower had his ileitis operation.

Hagerty's attention to detail goes away back beyond the time he went to work in the White House. He was press secretary to New York's Gov. Thomas E.

Vegetable Platter Is Mealtime Boon

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Perfectly seasoned and cooked vegetables, in contrasting colors, served together on a large platter, give a life to any meat. In these recipes, new, excellent flavored corn oil margarine is used.

Green Snap Beans

(Makes 4 servings)

1 pound green snap beans
2 tablespoons corn oil margarine
Water
½ teaspoon salt

Select fresh crisp beans. Wash, remove strings and ends. Cut into 1-inch pieces or leave whole as preferred. Cook covered in a small amount of water 20 to 30 minutes. Add margarine and toss to dress beans lightly. NOTE: For frozen beans cook according to package directions and toss with margarine to season.

Broiled Tomatoes

Wash and dry tomatoes. Slice in half. Sprinkle tops of each half with 1 teaspoon brown sugar and 1 teaspoon dry bread crumbs. Dot with corn oil margarine. Place on broiler rack 5 inches from heat. Broil until tomatoes are tender and lightly browned, about 10 minutes.

Baked Stuffed Potatoes

Wash, then dry, unpared baking potatoes. Rub well with margarine. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) until tender, about 45 minutes. Cut slice from top of each potato. Carefully scoop out potatoes and mash.

Dewey when the latter ran for the presidency in 1944 and 1948. He was a tough, efficient operator then. Dewey turned him over to Eisenhower when the general became a candidate. As it turned out, this was one of the best things Dewey did for Eisenhower.

Now Hagerty goes to the American Broadcasting Company as vice president to build up its news reporting. He succeeds John Daly.

Unlike Daly who did broadcasting himself, Hagerty will stay out of sight, try to build up a staff, and let the staff do the talking.

Not talking will be a switch for him.

ATTRACTIVE, good tasting and nourishing addition to any table is a fresh vegetable platter such as this one.

For each potato add 1 tablespoon margarine, 1 tablespoon skim milk, 1 teaspoon minced chives or a little grated onion and salt and pepper to taste. Beat until fluffy. Pile mixture lightly into potato shells. Brush tops with melted margarine and place under broiler just until lightly browned. NOTE: If a soft skin is desired, wrap potatoes in aluminum foil before baking.

Must Have Solid Dollar for Prestige

Recession at Home, Flow of Gold Abroad Two Major U. S. Problems

Editor's note — President-elect John F. Kennedy faces two major economic problems as he prepares for his inauguration next week. One is a recession at home. The other is continuing flow of U. S. gold abroad. Here's a report on his likely approach toward the two big economic issues, second in a five-part series on plans and problems of the new administration. It is written by an Associated Press reporter who specializes in business and economics news beats in the nation's capital.

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—As a presidential candidate, John F. Kennedy urged a faster-growing economy. As the president, his first problem will be to make it grow.

The economy hasn't been growing at all since mid-1960. It has slipped into its fourth recession since World War II and most forecasters see little hope of an upturn before spring or summer.

Determined to hurry the recovery, Kennedy is expected to unveil an antirecession program soon after he is inaugurated on Jan. 20.

Even as he does so, however, Kennedy will keep one eye cocked over his shoulder at the second major economic problem he will inherit—the whopping deficits in the U. S. balance of international payments.

Dollar Is Keystone

With Americans and their government paying out more money abroad than they receive, foreigners are collecting extra dollars with which they can buy American gold. The payments deficit approached $4 billion in 1960 and gold sales to foreigners hit $1.9 billion.

Dealing with this problem cannot be postponed, because it is causing foreign anxiety about the future of the dollar, the keystone in the free world economy. A sour dollar obviously would wreck Kennedy's plans for enhancing the nation's prestige, not to speak of other effects.

Were the Eisenhower administration remaining in office, its attack on the recession might be inhibited to an important extent by the gold problem.

Caution on Inflation

Eisenhower backers say, for example, that such traditional recession cures as pump priming (red ink spending by Uncle Sam) might worsen the gold situation by leaning in the direction of inflation. Rising prices would make it more difficult to sell U. S. goods abroad and earn the money that could reduce the payments deficit and buttress the dollar.

Kennedy, while deeply concerned about the gold-payments problem, will give first priority to the recession. He is expected to prime the economic pump, probably through a speedup in defense spending and road building, stimulation of housing and expanded unemployment benefits.

Hinges on Economy

President Eisenhower has planned for a balanced budget in the coming fiscal year, and Kennedy has declared himself generally in favor of that objective, too. Whether it can be achieved, however, seems certain to hinge on actual economic developments, as well as presidential intent. The Eisenhower administration has experienced several big deficit years due mainly to business slumps. Should emergency government action become necessary, economists believe Kennedy will not hesitate to propose them—including deficit-spending measures.

While the incoming president may trim his antirecession program to a limited extent because of the gold situation, he will not let gold call the tune.

Might Ask Tax Cut

Should the recession get severe enough, Kennedy might even ask Congress for a temporary tax cut to give the public more spending money. With Eisenhower, this would be a most unlikely maneuver.

In the final analysis, Kennedy may be willing to take a few risks with the gold situation because of his avowed determination to promote a dynamic economy able to afford broader social welfare programs. This goal will have equal rank with his foreign policy objectives.

Home Strength Comes First

The President-elect made this clear during the campaign by repeatedly arguing there can be no strength abroad without strength at home.

Indeed, Kennedy contends the image of a vital, expanding America would do much to dispel nagging foreign fears about the dollar.

Even so, he won't be able to let the gold problem slide, particularly since his antirecession measures will tend to raise new questions about the gold situation.

Eisenhower has attacked the payments deficit by curbing federal spending abroad, calling for reducing the number of military dependents overseas, promoting exports, and urging more help from other nations in financing the free world's defenses and development.

Kennedy may make some modifications but won't undo the whole package unless there is a significant reduction in the gold drain. Since foreigners bought more than $370 million of U. S. gold last month, that reduction is yet to come.

Finally, even as he worries about gold and the recession, Kennedy will be pushing for a long-term economic growth program and an attack on the persistent unemployment problem.

In one of the sharpest shifts of policy direction in the economic field, the Eisenhower administration's preoccupation with fighting inflation is expected to be subordinated to new emphasis on full employment and economic expansion.

Pays With 15,050 Pennies

OID, N.Y. (AP) — When the sheriff ordered Lawrence Taylor, 45, to pay a $150.50 debt, Taylor gave him 15,050 pennies.

Seneca County Sheriff Elmer Burnham said when he got the 99 pounds of pennies to the bank, he was told Taylor had recently exchanged bills for them.

The sheriff said he didn't enjoy the joke at all.

Innocent, 8 Large Furniture Makers Say to Charges

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Eight of the nation's largest manufacturers of metal office furniture have pleaded innocent to government charges that they conspired to fix prices and eliminate competition in the industry.

The pleas were entered in Federal District Court Monday where Judge John O. Henderson granted the companies a total of 70 days to file motions against the indictments, which were returned here Dec. 7.

The investigation in the $210-million-a-year industry was begun in 1959 when records of 27 leading manufacturers and distributors were subpoenaed.

Companies charged were: Sperry Ran Corp. of New York; Shaw-Walker Co. of Muskegon, Mich.; Art Metal Co. of Jamestown; Lawman & Erbe Manufacturing Co. of Rochester; General Fireproofing Co. of Youngstown, Ohio; Globe-Wernicke Co. of Norwood, Ohio; Steelcase Inc. of Grand Rapids, Mich.; and All-Steel Equipment of Aurora, Ill.

Meyner Reveals Plans for Water Supply Compact

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — New Jersey may soon join with its sister states of the Delaware River Basin in a comprehensive agreement on water supply and control.

Gov. Robert B. Meyner told the Legislature in his annual message today that a compact among Delaware, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania will be submitted for its consideration "in the near future."

He said it would "provide for water supply, flood control, pollution control, recreation and related uses of the basin waters."

The compact stems from work done by the Delaware Basin Survey Coordinating Committee set up after the 1955 flood.

Hearing Feb. 2 On Central Bid To Drop Service

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A Feb. 2 hearing on the New York Central Railroad's bid to end passenger service on its St. Lawrence Division will be held in the Jefferson County Building in Watertown.

It had been scheduled originally for the State Office Building in Syracuse.

The hearing, to be conducted by the Public Service Commission, has been expanded to include a Central request for permission to close freight stations at Ogdensburg, Rensselaer Falls, Heuvelton, Morristown, Brier Hill and Hammond. Freight business for these communities would be handled through the Watertown station.

The passenger service the Central proposes to discontinue is between Utica and Massena, Carthage and Watertown and between Syracuse, Massena and Ogdensburg via Watertown.

Jamestown Gets $30,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Community Facilities Administration announced today an interest-free loan of $30,000 to aid Jamestown, N.Y., in planning a new city hall to cost an estimated $2,865,500. The loan is repayable on start of construction, expected by June 1962.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Striking a heavy blow against Hollywood custom, Sandra Dee announced today her marriage to Bobby Darin will be nobody's property but their own.

Sandra put her pretty foot down on sharing her honeymoon home with their millions of fans.

"I figure I was Sandra Dee and he was Bobby Darin before we were married," she said. "I'm still Sandra Dee and he's still Bobby Darin, as far as our careers are concerned. But we're also husband and wife now. That is something new and apart from our careers, and I want to keep it that way."

"Home pictures? Oh, no. I wouldn't think of having photographers in our house. I know it will make a lot of people mad, but it's important that we keep our home life private."

Their careers will remain apart, she said, even though they met in traditional Hollywood style—on a movie set. It happened in Rome, where both were assigned to "Come September."

"During the first three months we never dated," she said. "We went out to dinner in Rome, but we were always accompanied by my mother, his brother-in-law, and my hairdresser."

The Dee-Darin wedding — real names: Alexandra Zuck, Robert Casotto — was swift but not unplanned. They announced their engagement upon returning to New York Nov. 22, married secretly Dec. 2.

"We got married because it was the only time we knew we would have six weeks together," she said.

"There were such crowds at my hotel that I had to go up and down in the elevator with the garbage. The switchboard was so jammed with calls for me that the hotel wanted me to move. The only way we could have the wedding to ourselves was to do it quietly at a friend's apartment."

The Darins are now sharing a Bel-Air cottage, complete with housekeeper, swimming pool and guest house. Sandra admitted to cooking on weekends, but her repertoire is limited to stuffed cabbage and salad—"That's all my grandmother taught me."

Bob Hope Will Golf, Leave for East Tour

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's back to the golf course for Bob Hope today and an eastern tour of benefits is on tap for next week.

Hope dropped out of a golf tournament last week, complaining of dizziness. But it was fatigue, he says, and nothing more.

Over the weekend, he was busy editing the tape of his Wednesday night NBC-TV show made during his recent holiday tour of U.S. bases in the Caribbean.

The comedian's doctor wants him away from his Toluca Lake home for awhile. The office of the Hope Enterprises is on the property and it's hard for the boss to rest with work nearby.

He'll rest and golf this week in Palm Springs. Sunday he takes off for St. Louis—and a benefit.

Small Business Course to Start Tuesday, Jan. 24

Arrangements have been completed for the small business management course, with the first meeting scheduled for January 24 at Saugerties High School. This course, which is designed for owners and managers of small businesses, is sponsored by the Saugerties Central School's Adult Education Program in cooperation with Saugerties Chamber of Commerce.

The course will consist of five weekly sessions led by persons who are authorities in their particular field of business. The speaker for the first meeting will be Homer Laudig, vice president and manager of Marsh's Department Store, Hudson, whose topic will be "Merchandising and Salesmanship."

Speakers at subsequent meetings will include Raymond J. Connelly, chief, financial and assistance division, Small Business Administration, New York City, who will discuss "Business Financing."

Discussing "Advertising and Public Relations" will be Michael C. Starkman, manager of Valley Advertising Agency, Kingston; "Credit and Collections" will be discussed by Thomas O. Murphy, manager of Credit Bureau of Poughkeepsie, and Robert Walden, manager of the Jo-Ann Shop in Schenectady, will discuss "Expense Control and Profit Planning."

Registrations for the course are being received by the Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce. Since the maximum enrollment has been nearly obtained, anyone interested who has not received a registration form should contact Chamber of Commerce Secretary Alfred R. MacMullen.

Slate Quarterly Methodist Church Meeting Tonight

The quarterly conference of Saugerties Methodist Church with election of new trustees will be conducted at 7:30 p. m. tonight at the church.

The Rev. George P. Werner, Kingston District superintendent will preside.

Election will be held for three trustees. The terms of Lewis Fellows, Milton Armstrong, and Willett Baldwin expire.

Voting will be by ballot and members not less than 18 are eligible to vote. The posts are for three-year terms. Reports will be read of last year's activities.

The commission on missions meets at the church Wednesday at 8 p. m.

P-TA Will Hear Discussion on Adult Education

"What Adult Education Offers Our Community" will be discussed at the Saugerties Parent-Teachers Association meeting 8 p. m. January 18 at Main Street School, Saugerties.

Dr. Grant D. Morse, director of adult education, will discuss the purposes of adult education. Kenneth L. Lane, assistant director of adult education, will describe some of the opportunities adult education is providing people in the Saugerties area.

He will also show colored slides of activities in the fall semester adult education classes in the Saugerties Central Schools. Some of the projects made by adults in their classes will be on display. Several adult education instructors will be present at the meeting to answer questions concerning their courses. The public is cordially invited to attend the meeting.

Sawyers to Host Berkshire Debate Meet on Saturday

Saugerties High School varsity will be host this weekend for a "Berkshire Tourney" bringing together schools from the Mohawk and Hudson Valley with teams from Vermont and Massachusetts. The Saugerties Lions Club has donated the featured Class A trophy. In addition two area trophies will go to runners up in the Varsity Division. A smaller 1st and 2nd place trophy will be awarded in the B division.

Eighteen schools and 35 teams will cock an eye on each weather forecast in anticipation of the event. Local students will house team members from Norwich. Among other expected schools are teams from Utica, Albany, Bennington, Poughkeepsie, Shrewsbury, Newburgh, Kingston and Holyoke.

The Sawyers A squad will be Sharon Johnson, Virginia Roeder, Pamela LaPlante, and Charles Hall. The Blue and White's second string will be Bradley Welton, Edward Strohsahl, David Loerzel and Rebecca Sachs. A third Saugerties squad Marguerite Fuzo, Linda Boettcher, Patricia Breen and Lynn Broome will be called upon to meet in a round robin against schools entering a B squad.

A large number of interested local citizens have agreed to act as judges relieving the coaches from much of the tourney's burden. A luncheon will be served the judges, coaches and team members in the cafeteria.

Role of College In Community Is P-TA Topic

The Role of the Community College will be the topic at Elenville Central School Parent-Teachers Association regular meeting Thursday, 8:15 p. m., in the elementary music assembly room.

George Sheppard, dean of students at Orange County Community College, Middletown, will be guest speaker. With the recently announced expanded program for community colleges by the board of regents and the need for such an institution in Ulster County, the officers of the P-TA felt the program would be particularly appropriate.

Those interested may attend the meeting to investigate the role of a community college, the need for one in the county and the possibilities of attaining such a goal.

Accused of Theft

A 23-year-old Red Hook youth will go on trial before Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz on Monday, Jan. 16 on charges of grand larceny, petty larceny and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

An indictment accuses James R. Fallon of taking a 1956 station wagon owned by Max Laumhardt, Town of Red Hook, on Dec. 2. The youth also is accused of taking tools owned by Laumhardt.

Cat Under Hood

NEWCASTLE, Wyo. (AP)—Ted Draper's missing cat has popped up—under the hood of a car in Osage, 15 miles away. The cat's owner, Roy Jones, said the cat appeared unhurt but he couldn't figure out how it got there.

Yankee Is Hero Of Dixie Fete

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—Even re-staged history can have its heroes.

When a replica of the old Union supply ship, the Star of the West, sailed into Charleston harbor Monday, "Confederate" cannons began firing at her as part of the nation's observance of the 100th anniversary of the Civil War.

Suddenly, a fire broke out in one of the batteries manned by cadets from The Citadel, South Carolina's military college. One of the cadets quickly doused the blaze. The hero?

Kin of Lumumba Is Organizing New Tribal State

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — A cousin of deposed Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba today was reported setting up a new tribal state in the North Katanga Province area occupied by Lumumbist troops from Stanleyville over the weekend.

Reports said Rene Mwamba, Lumumba's former minister of justice, led the movement into North Katanga and proclaimed a regime independent of both the Leopoldville government headed by President Joseph Kasavubu and Col. Joseph Mobutu and the secessionist Katanga government of Moïse Tshombe.

Think It Through

TRIAL FOR HERESY

Senator Clark of Pennsylvania has wangled himself into an excruciatingly embarrassing position. He proposed to try Senator Byrd of Virginia for political heresy before their Democratic brethren, and discharge him as Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

But he leaped before he looked, and fired before loading. This is always dangerous!

The row started because Virginia has a "right to work" law which the Los Angeles platform promised to exile from the statute books of 19 States, Virginia included. Byrd supports "right to work" and said so during the campaign.

Consequently, Clark, who is a flaming "liberal" and one of the Certified Thinkers of our time, decided to remove Byrd from his nest. This has always been something of a chore, but Clark oiled up his pea shooter, and lit in.

However, according to Arthur Krock of THE NEW YORK TIMES, it turns out that Clark's superior officers, Kennedy and Johnson, had personally called on Byrd during the campaign and assured him that the new Administration would not include the repeal of "right to work" in its legislative program!

This caught Clark asleep at first base. The incident will, of course, make a lot more folks than Clark mad, particularly the leaders of the AFL-CIO. Clark and other Senators and Congressmen can, of course, try to get a "right to work" repealer through Congress, but without Administration support, it will likely be a third Battle of Bull Run.

Three Are Killed In Crash of Jet

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The three-man crew of a B47 jet bomber was killed Monday in landing practice when the right wing dipped, touched the ground and sent the plane cartwheeling into a fiery crash.

Killed were Capt. Byron W. Foster, 33-year-old instructor-pilot from Cottage Grove, Ore.; 1st Lt. John S. Keller Jr., 28, of Mount Vernon, N. Y.; and 2nd Lt. Robert Robinson, 23, of New Haven, Conn.

The bomber touched down on a runway at McConnell Air Force Base and was gunning into the air again when it went out of control. The crewmen were assigned to a training wing at McConnell. All were married. Foster leaves three children and Keller one.

Study Is Proposed Of Unfair School Tax on Homes

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Homeowners should be relieved of "onerous and unfair" school taxes but the problem is of such magnitude that no group other than the Legislature could solve it, the State Home Builders Association suggests.

Wayne Edwards, association president, urged in a statement Monday that $100,000 to $200,000 be appropriated to finance a study by a special joint legislative committee.

A way should be found, the association said, to have non-home-owning families contribute to the cost of educating their children. Real-estate taxes now are the prime source of funds for supporting public schools.

The association claims 3,000-builder-members.

YOUR POCKETBOOK

Look Before You Leap Into the Business Whirl

By FAYE HENLE

If ever you have baked a superb cake, made your lot a dreamy dress, or excelled in decorating, certainly someone must have suggested: "Why don't you go into business and make money?" Well, why don't you?

More women than ever are starting businesses of their own. And if you carefully research your state's department of commerce before setting forth on a new venture, your chances of success will be improved.

My state is unique. It offers such a service to women, exclusively, via the Women's Program of the State Department of Commerce. The program, headed by Deputy Commissioner of Commerce Guin Hall, is aided by a council of women who are leaders in businesses such as advertising, retailing and real estate.

If you live in New York State you may avail yourself of the service; if you live elsewhere you may wish to ask your state's commerce department to help you along the indicated lines.

The New York program offers free individual consultations in person, by mail or phone, and holds periodic clinics addressed by experts in various fields. To be a success in business the experts stress you must:

- Know your market and its needs.
- Know where, if necessary, to get trademarks, patents, copyrights.
- Know how to determine both manufacturing costs and selling price.
- Study the factors involved in determining whether the product or service you sell can return a profit.
- Know your sources of materials, supplies, display materials, packaging.
- Know newest developments in production methods.
- Know where to get the financing your need and how to budget your business.

- Study mail order techniques if these apply to your business.
- Know the rules and regulations pertaining to manufacturing and marketing your product.

Beyond these generalities, the program offers specific advice on opening a shop, conducting a service business like catering or dressmaking, the factors that determine the success of a food product or hand craft and on specialized operations such as running a garden supply store or resort gift shop.

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Two people have been fatally wounded during demonstrations in the three-week-old Belgian strike.

There also have been several traffic fatalities as a result of barricades thrown up by strikers.

The two men shot were an unemployed painter, who was killed by a passerby trying to rescue a gendarme from the crowd during a Brussels demonstration, and a Liege worker, who was wounded during a strikers' attack on a Liege railroad station last Friday.

Lester Lanin Signed for Annual Auxiliary Ball; Proceeds Will Benefit Hospital Here

LESTER LANIN

Gala plans are in the making for the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary's Annual Ball, to be held Saturday evening, Feb. 4, at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Announcement of the Lester Lanin Orchestra to play for the event is an indication of a social as well as a financial success.

Ever since he played one of his first engagements for debutante Barbara Hutton, Lester Lanin's orchestra has been society's favorite orchestra. Today the two are one and indivisible. From Ivy League campuses to the grand ballrooms of Newport mansions, music by Lester Lanin is one more indispensable ingredient for a gala evening of dancing.

Lester's fabulous career began on the Main Line of his native Philadelphia and today extends from coast to coast. The Lanin band travels by air on a schedule that often means Palm Beach one evening, Beverly Hills the next, then back to New York (his home base) for a mammoth charity ball, on to a debut in Detroit, a wedding in Chicago, a cotillion in Atlanta and a yacht club dance in Nantucket.

With the wonderful music and several new innovations, committee members are working diligently towards another successful ball. Invitations have been in the mail this week. Anyone desiring additional invitations may contact Mrs. James E. Norton, treasurer, Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker Jr., and Mrs. N. LeVan Haver are co-chairmen of this year's ball.

Proceeds from this event will be used to further continue the many fine accomplishments of the auxiliary for the Kingston Hospital and the welfare of its patients. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. Alan T. Mickel, Mrs. George R. Mumrich Jr., and Mrs. George C. Rifenbary.

La Boheme Scheduled for Monday, Jan. 30 By Community Concerts; Make Future Plans

Preparations were begun Sunday afternoon for the 1961-62 series of Kingston Community Concerts Association at the annual meeting of the board of directors in the Governor Clinton Hotel. The week of May 7 to 13 was set for the annual membership drive with plans for a mail campaign to renew subscriptions to be conducted within the next few weeks.

The Kingston Community Concerts group has long been a part of the community's cultural life bringing many of the top names to Kingston for concerts. The Boston Opera Company's production of "La Boheme" will be presented Monday evening, January 30, and the internationally acclaimed duo-pianists, Gold and Fildale, will appear Wednesday, March 15. Jerome Hines opened this season's series last September.

The Kingston group was over-subscribed for the seating capacity at the Community Theatre for the eighth consecutive season last spring in its organized audience plan. The plan makes each member equally a part of the organization to bring the best in the concert world to Kingston. The association is open to all simply by paying the annual dues.

Mrs. Bernard Forst and Mrs. Lloyd LeFever are co-chairmen of membership for the Kingston group. Mrs. Herbert I. Bloom and Mrs. LeFever will have charge of the opening meeting for all workers Sunday, May 7, at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Officers of the Kingston Community Association were re-elected Sunday afternoon with John McCullough, president; Stuart Munson, first vice president; Mrs. Forst, second vice president; Leonard Stine, third vice president; Mrs. Louis Keger, secretary; and Oscar Lawatsch, treasurer. Mrs. Albert Sonnenberg was chairman of the nominating committee. Annual reports were given and a number of artists for the coming series were discussed.

Robert Geisinger, representative of the New York office for Community Concerts Association, attended the meeting and will be in Kingston during campaign week to assist the local workers.

Mr. McCullough named several committees including publicity—Mrs. Harry Seitz, chairman; Cantor Julian Lohre, Mrs. Albert Sonnenberg, Horace Bailer and Stuart Munson. Board membership—Cantor Lohre, Mrs. Harold Rakow, Mrs. Louis Keger and Mrs. Seitz.

LEAVING TAGS ON GIFTS

Question: Is it proper to leave tags on items one gives for presents? My girl friend's birthday is next week and I bought her a very beautiful handbag. Attached to the bag is a card saying that the bag is made of the finest cowhide leather. When I was wrapping the bag my mother noticed that I had left this tag on and told me to remove it as it was in very bad taste to leave it on. We had quite a discussion on this and I would like to know from you, if it is wrong to leave such a tag on a present?

Answer: Your mother is right, the tag reading "finest cowhide leather" even though it does not show the price of the bag, should be removed. A tag giving the origin and history of some really old object, or one giving careful cleaning instructions, are the only ones that may be left attached to a gift.

Invitation From Office Friend

Question: Is it necessary to answer a formal wedding invitation which came by mail, to the wedding of an office friend? She is not inviting everyone here in the office, which is why I imagine I received my invitation at home. Must I write a formal note, or since I see her every day, may I just tell her I'm coming?

Answer: To tell her you are coming—when you see her alone—would be quite all right.

Admiring Someone's Clothes

Question: Is it considered in bad taste to make complimentary remarks to someone about her clothes? A friend of mine says it is, but I disagree and think every woman likes to hear something nice said about her clothes.

Answer: If the complimentary remarks are insincere, flattery, they are in bad taste, but genuine praise of a lovely dress is something any woman would like to hear and is entirely proper.

The Emily Post Institute is sorry it cannot answer personal mail. (Released by The Bell Syndicate)

Stone Ridge Fair Plans Get Underway

A meeting of the Stone Ridge Library Fair planning committee was held recently at the library.

The chairman of the Fair for the coming year, which will be held on Saturday, July 29, is Mrs. Clyde Roosa of Lyonsville. Two assisting co-chairmen are Mrs. Dewitt Hasbrouck of High Falls and Mrs. Walter Wedvik of Atwood.

The following chairmen were appointed for the different booths:

Quality table—Mrs. Robert Davenport, Lomontville; miscellaneous—Mrs. William Bryant, Stone Ridge; books—Austin Dunham, Stone Ridge; antiques—Miss Mary Guido, Stone Ridge; foods—Mormel Club, Stone Ridge; vegetables—Mrs. Francis Davenport, Stone Ridge; rummage—Miss Edythe Newkirk, Stone Ridge; hat tree—Mrs. Kenneth Davenport, Stone Ridge; refreshments—Mrs. Frank Krohn, Stone Ridge; children's surprises—Mrs. Al Emmerling, Kripplebush; children's toys—Mrs. Frank Lynch, High Falls; publicity—Kenneth Davenport, Stone Ridge.

A new feature of the fair will be the Hat Tree Booth. The next meeting of the committee will be held the first Thursday of April.

Bandrow-Playford Wedding Announced

Miss Anna Mae Bandrow of 42 Ravine Street, this city, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rene Bandrow, wed James Charles Playford, son of Mrs. Charles Playford, 166 East Chester Street, and the late Mr. Playford, in a double ring ceremony on Saturday, Dec. 31 at St. Mary's Church. The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly officiated.

Theodore Riccobono was organist for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white lace gown styled with fitted bodice and white satin cummerbund with back bow white lace jacket with modified stand-away collar and bouffant ballerina length skirt. A sequined tiara held a short veil of silk illusion. The bride carried white roses.

Joan Bandrow was the maid of honor for her sister in a mint green chiffon ballerina length gown. She carried yellow carnations with orchid pompons. The bride was also attended by three bridesmaids: Dorothy Playford, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, in pale blue and royal chiffon; Flavia Bandrow, the bride's sister, in lavender satin; and Rene Bandrow, also the bride's sister, in light blue chiffon. Flavia Bandrow carried yellow pompons while the other bridesmaids carried pink pompons.

Sharon Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Burns of Delaware Avenue, this city, served as flower girl. She wore a lavender gown of lace and net over a satin hooped underskirt. She carried a miniature arm basket of white carnations and yellow pompons. Her matching crown was identical in style to that worn by the bride.

Donald Playford was best man for his brother. Ushering were Robert Linroth of Zena; Robert Bandrow, the bride's brother; Donald Playford Jr., the bridegroom's nephew; as junior ushers, Robert Playford, nephew of the bridegroom, and Eugene Bandrow, brother of the bride.

More than 125 guests were entertained at a reception given in Rookey's Restaurant, this city.

For her wedding trip, the bride wore a champagne brocade satin sheath. Her corsage consisted of red roses.

The bride attended Kingston High School and is employed by Montgomery Ward and Company. Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, is serving with the U. S. Army at Fort Bliss, Texas.

The couple plan to make their home in Kingston.

High Front, Low Backs for Spring Clothes; Style Show Will Feature 25 Top Collections

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—The sight of all those bare backs slouching up and down the ramp in gallant display of new spring clothes was enough to send sympathetic chills coursing along the spines of more than one visiting fashion writer. Outside, the winds howled and the temperature hovered in the 20s. Inside the Hotel Pierre Ballroom Monday more than 200 of the nation's fashion press watched the first afternoon showing of the New York Couture group's spring collections.

High in front and low in back dominated the three collections of Edward Abbott, Luis Estevez and Marquise.

For Abbott, Wilson Folmar had designed necklines with deep cowl in back. Often the cowl hung below bare backs.

Brief jackets or overblouses peeled off of barebacked cocktail dresses with the uplift built in, as in bathing suits. Simple silk linen sheaths were cut high in front, low in back. A high cross drape at the neck with low back appeared repeatedly.

Except for an occasional overblouse jacket, waistlines were in natural position. Skirts were slim in silk or linen, floatingly full chiffon or french crepe.

Estevez paid tribute to the jet age with a many-layered costume designed to help the air passenger circumvent excess baggage charges. You don't pack your wardrobe; you put it all on your back and strip it off as necessary: coat, then jacket, then bare-topped black dress.

For Marquise, Philippe Tour-naye concentrated on necks, backs and skirts. He put waist-wrapping print blouses under relaxed collarless jackets that stood away from the body at the neck and waist. The skirts were often boxpleated or flared. The backs were bare, or cowed or sported handkerchief collars.

The Marquise clothes ended the first of five days of couture showings—with at least 25 collections left.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER FOR NURSES— Among those attending the dinner for nurses of District 11 on Monday were, seated (l-r) Mrs. Orley Everett, chairman; Mrs. Emma Killeen, first chairman of District 11; Miss Caroline Bender, state chairman and guest speaker; Miss Wilma Jones, secretary; and Mrs. Mabel Van

Nurses Association Celebrates Anniversary; Speaker Stresses Progress in Nursing Field

The 20th anniversary dinner of District 11, New York State Nurses Association, was held Monday, Jan. 9 at the Sky Top Motel.

Miss Caroline Bender, State Private Duty chairman, attended and spoke on the progress made in private duty nursing and the development of the economic security program by the New York State Nurses Association.

The private duty nurse is a highly skilled practitioner who gives special nursing care to one patient.

In her address, Miss Bender also stated that the private duty nurse was and is a loyal supporter of her professional nursing organization and a member of the American Nurses Association, New York State Nurses Association and District Nurses Association, and as an active member has legal assistance, personal assistance and a voice in her organization.

Miss Bender also spoke of the American Nurses Foundation and its research program in nursing and the plan to study long term illnesses and the care of cardio-vascular accidents and nursing care of the chronically ill. Also a study of the shortage of nurses and the reasons for it.

Organization Reviewed

Mrs. Emma Killeen of Newburgh, who was the first chairman and organizer of the Private Duty Section of District 11 reviewed its organizational progress.

"Twenty years ago the private duty nurse worked at 12-hour for a fee of $6," she said. "In some sections, private duty nurses worked a 20-hour day for $6 but through the assistance of the New York State Nurses Association, today's nurse works a five day week, eight hours per shift."

Mrs. Killeen further said that originally District 11 included four counties, Ulster, Greene, Sullivan and Rockland, but because of geography, it was a hardship to hold meetings. The counties were redivided and Ulster and Greene became District 11.

Many problems have been taken care of that were disturbing to nurses, Mrs. Killeen stated. Problems still exist but great progress has been made and the credit is due to the economic security program established in 1946 to meet the needs of local groups to assist nurses to achieve better employment conditions and to insure that the nursing profession provide the best possible nursing service to the public.

Mrs. Everett, chairman of District 11, was delightedly surprised when her sister, Mrs. Jean Wright, New Rochelle, also a nurse, came as a guest with Miss Bender.

Mrs. Marie Stewart was nominated to go on the tentative ballot to the nominating committee of New York State Nurses Association as first vice chairman of the State Private Duty Section.

The name of Mrs. Gladys Anderson was also submitted as secretary of the State Private Duty Section from District 11.

The next dinner-meeting of the Private Duty Section will be in March. Mrs. Florence Church accepted chairmanship.

Mrs. Everett thanked Mrs. Mabel Van Etten and Miss Wilma Jones, chairman of the 20th anniversary dinner of District 11, for their excellent work.

Benedictine Ladies Welcome Members

The regular monthly meeting of the Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary was held at the auditorium of the nurses' resident Wednesday, Jan. 4. Reports were made by the Mmes. Robert D. Stenson, recording secretary, Mrs. Joseph W. Robertson, treasurer and Mrs. Edward J. Whelan, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Fred Bruhn, membership chairman, introduced the following new members: the Mmes. Thomas Saccoman, Louis Shapiro, Morton Cohen, Sue Benicase, and the Misses Marie Dagenais, Marilyn Wojciechowski and Nancy Hussey.

Reports were made by the standing committee chairmen, the Mmes. John Finch, sales cart volunteers; Andrew Daley, desk and escort service; Vincent Guido, hospitality; Martin Golden, cart bookkeeper.

Mrs. John Ryan reported that in the near future the Auxiliary again plans to furnish baby photo service in the hospital.

Mrs. George Beichert, chairman of volunteers, announced there will be a meeting some time in January at the hospital for indoctrination of the new members.

Mrs. J. Nicholas Stock, in charge of junior volunteers, announced there will be a class on Tuesday, Jan. 10 at 3:30 p. m. in the hospital for junior volunteers. All high school freshmen are cordially invited to attend.

Sister M. Berenice, hospital administrator, welcomed the new members. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Michael Mattia and her committee for the Christmas decorations.

Mrs. Edward Flick, program chairman, introduced Miss Agatha Snyder, daughter of Mrs. John L. Snyder, who entertained with several dance numbers. Miss Snyder studied seven years with the late Alexis Kosloff, graduate of the Imperial Russian Ballet and head ballet master of the Metropolitan Opera Company for 25 years. Miss Snyder was also assistant instructor of the Bishop School of Dance for three years. A graduate of Academy of St. Ursula last June, Miss Snyder is now a freshman medical secretary student at Georgetown Visitation Junior College, Georgetown, Washington, D. C. She was given one of the leading roles in the Christmas play "One Red Rose."

Mrs. Snyder also directed a dance number for the freshmen talent show and performed in the show herself.

Serving as hostesses were Mrs. Thomas Gorman, Mrs. Edward Whelan, Mrs. Warren Swarthout and Mrs. Joseph Cacioppo.

Sucker fishing through the ice is all the rage up in neighboring Delaware County. Suckers, as local old-timers will recall, used to attain large size in the Esopus Creek "deep hole" below the tannery in days before the waterworks.

Delia Lewis and daughter, Mrs. James Freese, of the Acorn Hill neighborhood, were Shokan callers Saturday. They report Mrs. Aaron Mackey and Antha Roosa in fair health at this time. The two Shokan sisters have been living at the Lewis home for the past several months.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bobelle, Creek Locks, spent Saturday afternoon with Mr. Bobelle's sister, Mrs. Lester Leone of the Ruckert Apartments.

Gustave Ribstein, retired member of the Ashokan Reservoir force, and wife recently attended a family dinner for 14 persons at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bennett, Lomontville.

Mona Doehler, West Hurley young woman whose engagement to Rudy Schupp of Glendale, L. I., was announced in The Freeman, formerly resided in Shokan village center with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Doehler.

Smart Treatments Turn Radiator Eyesores Into Assets

A big headache for many homemakers lies in the problem of what to do about those old-fashioned radiators. As they are, they are no things of beauty. A window seat with solid wood ends and metal grille front (all painted to match the woodwork) can turn such a radiator into an asset. Add a flat cushion of the curtain color or fabric on top.

Or bookshelves may be needed in a room. If so, build low ones all across the radiator wall. The top will be continuous on over the radiator. Metal grille used in front of the radiator itself can be fastened to the front of the shelf unit.

One of my favorite remedies is the use of floor length cafe curtains made of the same fabric as draw curtains at either side. Be sure to use brass rods that extend far enough out to allow curtains to hang in front of the radiator. This same treatment holds good for covering a window air conditioner.

Dear Polly: Do you think bookshelves built in the four and-a-half foot spaces at either side of our fireplace would make the room cozier? If so, should they be painted like the walls or natural like the woodwork?

Dear Mrs. F. K.: Floor-to-ceiling bookshelves, with doors to close off the lower part, would add interest as well as valuable storage to your room. Finish them like the woodwork.

Dear Polly: Your decorating ideas sound so good that I hope you will help me with my color problems. We have an L-shaped living and dining room separated by a 10-foot arch. We want to put a molding around the dining room wall and use wallpaper above it and paint below. How high should this molding be? We have a white leather chair and two small dark brown chairs. What color for draperies, paint and a lady's chair? The rooms must tie in. Also, what for above the fireplace?—Mrs. E. B.

Dear Mrs. E. B.: In the average room, a chair rail is placed about 36 inches up on the wall. (The original purpose was to prevent chairs being pushed too close to the wall.) Do select a matching fabric and wallpaper team for these two adjoining rooms. It might be a white ground with design in brown, olive and tangerine. The paper could be used above a brown painted dado in the dining room and both rooms could have curtains of the matching fabric. An olive green couch and the other chair in green, white and brown plaid would complete a pretty picture. The new lamp could be brass with a white shade. An arrangement of pictures is decorative on a fireplace wall.

Renew Marriage Vows for Golden Wedding Anniversary Celebration; Reception Given

MR. AND MRS. MORRIS GOLDBERG

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Goldberg of Brooklyn celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Dec. 25, 1960 by renewing their marriage vows before a reception given at the Paradise in Brooklyn. Officiating was Rabbi H. Muchnik.

Among those attending from Kingston was their daughter, Mrs. George Margolis.

For the ceremony, Mrs. Goldberg was escorted to the canopy of flowers by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Goldberg of Brooklyn. Mr. Goldberg was escorted by his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Margolis of Kingston.

Daughters-in-law, Jean Goldberg and Marilyn Goldberg served as honor attendants while Sandra Feit of Kingston and Lorraine "Trast" of Saugerties, granddaughters, served as attendants. Also taking part in the renewal of vows ceremony were Caryn Goldberg of Brooklyn, another granddaughter and Jill Feit of Kingston, great granddaughter and Susan Goldberg of Brooklyn, granddaughter. The latter served their grandparents as flower girls.

Seating the guests were Durt Feit of Kingston and Ira Trast of Saugerties, grandsons. Junior ushers were Alan, Robert and Steven Goldberg of Brooklyn, grandsons, and great grandchildren, Steven and David Trast of Saugerties, carried their grandparents rings.

Serving jointly as best men for their parent were Sidney and Dan Goldberg of Brooklyn.

More than 140 guests witnessed the occasion after which a reception was given.

ASK THE DESIGNER

BY GAILE DUGAS

Dear Gaile: I always start planning my spring wardrobe at this time of year. I've read in the papers that suits will have no collars and great big buttons this spring. While this sounds interesting, I've no idea what jewelry to wear with such a suit. It seems to me that almost any jewelry I could think of would look all wrong. What do you say?—Mrs. L. M.

Dear Mrs. L. M.: Aren't you smart to be so efficient in planning your wardrobe. And I have some excellent suggestions on jewelry for the new spring suits.

I took your question to Nettie Rosenstein, who has a national reputation for beautiful costume jewelry designs. She says:

"When you buy your jewelry for spring, just ignore those huge buttons. You wouldn't wear a pin with such a suit, naturally but you can wear a three or four-strand necklace close to the neck. And matching earrings. (A long necklace would interfere with those buttons.)"

"Pick your necklace in shades of brilliant coral, green, blue or emerald. With a black suit, a necklace in two colors, emerald and green, would be stunning."

Dear Gaile: My husband and I are planning a winter vacation trip to Florida. I would like to buy a two-piece swimsuit but my husband objects. As I am over 40, he feels that a two-piece suit is not appropriate and should be worn only by younger women. Please give me your opinion.—Mrs. R. B. J.

Dear Mrs. R. B. J.: Your husband is absolutely right. But don't take my word for it. Advice for you on the matter comes from Rose Marie Reid, a famous swimsuit designer who lives in California. She says:

"Since your vacation trip seems to be an important event in your life, I am assuming that you are anxious to look as attractive as possible when you appear on the beach in your new swimsuit. Although you may possess an outstanding figure, my invaluable advice to the average woman over 40 is to choose a one-piece style. It is certain to be more flattering. And, obviously, your husband will be more comfortable about it. This means you both will have a better time."

Dear Gaile: As you can see from my address, I live in a suburb of Chicago. I attend a good many luncheons and am active in civic affairs. But I am sick and tired of the navy blue suits and flowered hats that so many of my friends wear in spring. I'm afraid I'm guilty, too. Please tell me how to break away from this routine this spring. But bear in mind that I'm middle-aged, on the plump side and not exactly frivolous. So please tell me what you think.—Mrs. W. R. H.

Dear Mrs. W. R. H.: I think it's definitely time for a change. The fact that you're middle-aged doesn't mean that you should abandon fashion. My authority for this is New York designer Nichi Giglio of William Devitz. And this is what he has to say:

"Navy is for uniforms. This spring, try the beautiful and brilliant colors you will find: hot pinks, violet, brilliant blues, poison green, golden yellows. To lose your fear of color, buy boldly. Stop being concerned about what your friends are wearing. Buy with an eye to your own coloring but buy brilliantly."

Hadassah Planning Special Program; 100th Birthday

Mrs. William Helmrich has been named chairman for the Kingston Chapter of Hadassah's annual card party to be held Monday, Jan. 16.

Mrs. Irwin Gellen is co-chairman for the event, set for 8:30 p. m. at Temple Emanuel. Mrs. Walter B. Suskind is in charge of a special program for the evening, commemorating the 100th birthday of Hadassah's founder, the late Henrietta Szold.

Plans for the January 16 event were completed Monday evening at a board meeting in the home of Mrs. Robert E. Davis, 188 Pearl Street.

Mrs. Arthur Landesman reported on arrangements for a special luncheon series, to be held Tuesday, March 14. The new project will be explained to the membership at Monday's meeting.

Other reports included HMO benefit, with Mrs. Sidney Halpern and Mrs. Harold Newman as co-chairmen. Donor dinner dance, arranged by the Mmes. Robert Davis, Arthur Motkin and George Starkman; and sunshine Mrs. Louis Ellenbogen.

A nominating committee was appointed to report in March; Mrs. Murray Fletcher is chairman; with the Mmes. David Kline, Mrs. Herbert Greene and Mrs. Jay Melton included.

Attending the board meeting were the Mmes. Robert Yallum, Arthur Landesman, Robert Davis, Sidney Halpern, Harold Newman, Herbert Gertner, Morris Berman, Louis Ellenbogen, Maurice Crystal, Walter Suskind and Robert Nadler.

Kingston High Cagers Host Liberty in DUSO Tilt Tonight

LEO IS A DODGER AGAIN—Leo Durocher, former manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Giants, tries on a Dodger uniform as the Los Angeles manager, Walter Alston, looks on in Los Angeles Jan. 9. Leo had just been signed as third base coach for the team. Durocher said his duties would be whatever Mr. Alston wants done. (NEA Telephone)

Leo Returns to Baseball As Coach With LA Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It wasn't long ago that Leo Durocher was saying there was a conspiracy among owners to keep him out of baseball.

Today he is back in the game—as a coach of the Los Angeles Dodgers, but under warning from General Manager Buzzie Bavasi that under no circumstances is he to second-guess Dodger Manager Walter Alston.

Durocher spoke his lines very well at Monday's news conference. Asked if he considered his new coaching job a stepping stone to another major league managerial post, the Lip, 54, told reporters: "I'm not looking for anything."

I'm happy with the Dodgers, and that's it. I'm just a coach. Alston's the manager, and I think he's the greatest in the business."

In spite of that frank statement by Durocher, who led the Dodgers to a pennant in 1941 and subsequently managed the New York Giants to two pennants and a World Series, Bavasi decided on further emphasis.

"The first time there is any second-guessing, that's it," he warned.

Durocher, once one of the top-salaried managers, reportedly will receive $17,500. He said he was so happy to return to baseball after a six-year layoff that he hadn't discussed terms with Bavasi.

Locals Hoping To Stay Unbeaten In Circuit Play

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Though they have a crucial Friday engagement with the dangerous Newburgh Free Academy Goldbacks, the Kingston High players can't afford to relax tonight when they host the Liberty Indians in a DUSO game at the Kate Walton Field House.

There are other contests on tap tonight, though the card is a slim one. The other DUSO tilt finds Monticello visiting Newburgh. The only other area team seeing action will be Rondout Valley. The Ganders will be at Tri-Valley in a non-circuit engagement.

Choice to Repeat

Coach John Gilligan's KHS club whipped Liberty, 76-61, at the cramped Sullivan County gym in the opening game of the season and rules a heavy choice to repeat at home.

The visitors have captured one league tilt, topping Port Jervis, 69-56. In addition to Kingston, the Indians have bowed, 69-50, to Middletown. They played in the Monroe-Woodbury Christmas tournament and bowed to the host club, which is unbeaten. Last Friday, Liberty topped Ellenville, 45-43.

Joel Goldberg, a rugged guard, leads the invaders. He tallied 25 points against Kingston in that losing effort and has 68 points in three league starts for a nifty mark of 22.7 a game. Herman Rosh is the other high scorer for the club from the Borscht Belt region. He had 16 markers the first time the clubs met and has 27 points in three league games.

The locals scored over Our Lady of Lourdes in their last assignment but it wasn't much of a struggle. A victory tonight against Liberty and a winning performance Friday against Newburgh will put Kingston in a good spot for league honors. It will give every club, with the exception of Poughkeepsie and Monticello at least two defeats and the Monties have a road block at Newburgh tonight.

Lost in Last Minute

Coach Joe Gaspard's Goldbacks were nipped in the last minute by the Pioneers but the team is a threat to win honors. It has good balance and some depth. Monticello is again led by Steve Schumier, a good shooter. The rest of the cast is only fair at best and Schumier has to have a good night for the Monties to stay close. They haven't much height.

Friday night, the three leagues will swing into action and some important tussles are listed. In the DUSO, Newburgh is at Kingston and Poughkeepsie at Middletown. The UCAL schedule lists New Paltz at Onteora, Highland at Wallkill and Rondout Valley at Marlboro. In the DCSL, Arlington visits Saugerties. Cardinal Farley is at Wappingers Falls and Roosevelt plays at Beacon.

W. Virginia Tops Syracuse, 97-74

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pete Chuddy's impressive scoring spree of 27 points wasn't enough for the Syracuse basketball team Monday night, as the Orangemen went down to defeat at the hands of West Virginia's Mountaineers, 97-74.

Syracuse, in a venture into the South, tied the Mountaineers five times and exchanged the lead with them eight times during the first 10 minutes. But West Virginia scored six straight points opening its lead to 25-20, and played on to victory.

At halftime, West Virginia led 47-29. Chuddy, high man for the night, fouled out in the late stages of the game. Rod Thorn, West Virginia's sophomore ace, scored 26 before he was pulled out with 11 minutes still to go.

The Orangemen suffered their sixth straight loss last night and now have a 1-7 record. The Mountaineers are now 9-2.

In the only other game involving Upstate teams last night, New York A.C. defeated visiting Siena, 75-48.

$540,000 Settlement For Baseball Franchise

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)

— Calvin Griffith's Minnesota twins are shelling out $540,000 to the American Association for their takeover of the Minneapolis-St. Paul territory.

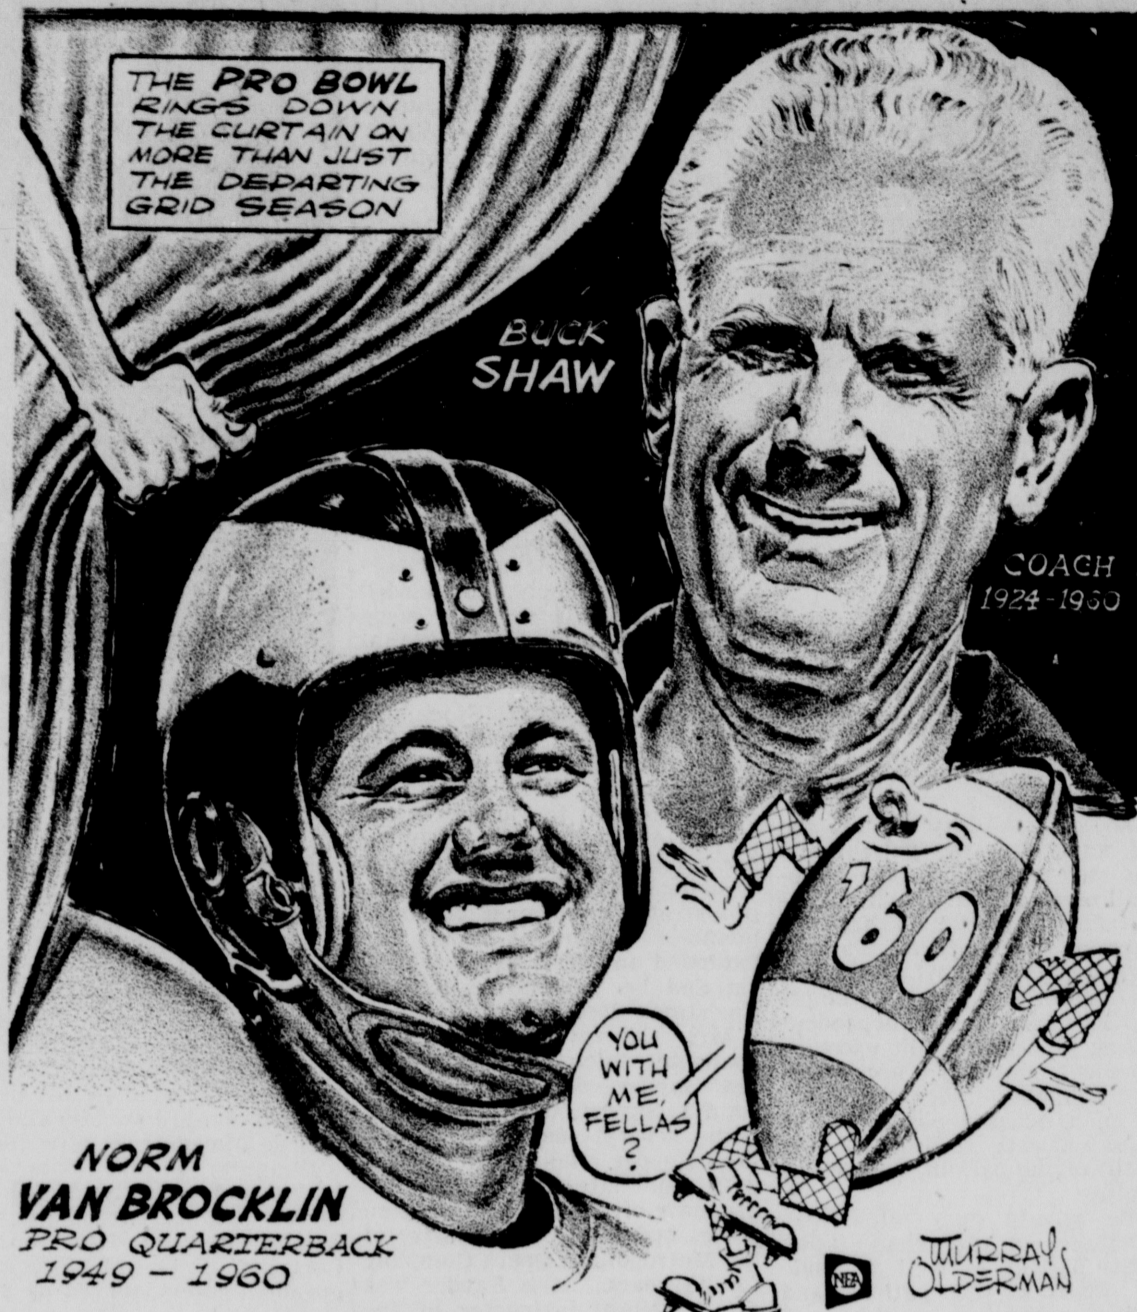

Griffith was nicked for just about what he stands to make in television rights for his first year of operation away from Washington.

Not everybody in the association agrees the figure is high enough.

Board Chairman Frank McKinney of Indianapolis said his club voted against it as too small. He pointed to the total $900,000 in indemnity the Pacific Coast received three years ago when the Dodgers and Giants moved West.

Each reportedly paid $450,000. The settlement was reached Monday in an exchange of telegrams between Griffith here and association directors meeting in Denver.

AND AWAY THEY GO!

Vanderbilt Edges Kentucky For 13th Straight Victory

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Vanderbilt's unbeaten Commodores, Hoosier-coached and Kentucky and Indiana fed, have sailed into college basketball's elite under a fast-spreading Southeastern Conference formula: If you can't beat 'em, get 'em to come and join up!

The Commodores of Bob Polk, packed with talent from Polk's home grounds of Indiana and bordering Kentucky, shot their winning streak to 13 and their season record to 11-0 Monday night at Nashville with a 64-62 victory over Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats.

Out of the lineup was Bobby (Bimbo) Bland, their playmaker and second leading scorer who has a shoulder separation that may sideline him three weeks. But Vandy still had enough other Hoosier and Blue Grass talent to get the job done. Squad members from Indiana contributed 35 points and Kentuckians 19 points—or 54 of the 64-point total.

Reaching up to Indiana and Kentucky for basketball prospects has become almost a habit in the SEC the last few years as opposing coaches sought to break Rupp's Kentuckians from their stranglehold on the championship.

Big Men Figure

Bill Depp, a 6-7 senior from Edinburg, Ind., Don Ringstaff, a 6-2 sophomore from Smithland, Ky., and Larry Banks, a 6-6 senior from Jeffersonville, Ind., were the big men in the feature of a national program in which top-ranked Ohio State whipped Evansville 86-59 without Jerry Lucas, sixth-ranked Iowa rallied to beat Wisconsin, 76-68, and pesky Drake spilled St. Louis, 45-44.

Ohio State won its 11th of the season and 16th over a two-year span although All-America Lucas took the night off because of a twisted knee suffered against Illinois last Saturday. Larry Siegfried, with 21 points, and John Havlicek, with 19 and Mel Newell, with 16 more than took up the slack for big Luke Siegfried, with 7 straight free throws, now has hit 23 in a row in his last three games.

Iowa (10-1) ran its winning streak to eight with a 15-6 burst in the closing minutes after Wisconsin, 10 behind at the half, had taken a 62-61 lead. The Hawks did it without late help from Frank Allen, who scored 24 points and Don Nelson, who hit for 20.

Allen fouled out and Nelson had to leave with a sprained foot and a deep head gash. Drake nailed its 10th victory in 11 starts by building a 9-point lead and holding off a late St. Louis rally.

Lane on Target For Piersall

CLEVELAND (AP)

— Frank Lane, who quit last week as general manager of the Cleveland Indians to take a similar job with the Kansas City Athletics, wants the Indians' center fielder, Jim Piersall, in a swap for Bill Tuttle.

"I'd like to have Piersall," said Lane on a stopover there Monday. "He'd stir up the fans in Kansas City like he did here. He's just what we need out there. We have to bring people into the ball park, and who can create more excitement than Piersall?"

Lane admitted his efforts to get Piersall had no support from the Athletics' field manager, Joe Gordon, who started last season as Cleveland manager.

"Gordon doesn't want him back," Lane said.

Bosox Rookie Yastrzemski Hailed as Ted's Successor

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A 20-year-old bonus boy, only three years out of high school, may be patrolling the mighty Ted Williams' left field sector for the Boston Red Sox this season.

The youngster, now attending Notre Dame, is Carl Yastrzemski — pronounced yas-stremskee — Who has what Philadelphia Phillies' Manager Gene Mauch calls "as sweet a swing as there is in baseball."

The 5-11, 175-pound outfielder, along with another youngster with only two years of experience, infielder Charley Schilling, 22, are the brightest prospects to come up to the Red Sox in years. They not only are given a good chance to stick, but each is expected to blossom into a star of long standing.

The Red Sox shelled out a $100,000 bonus to Yastrzemski two years ago when he was a sophomore at Notre Dame. As a rookie with Raleigh in the Carolina League in 1959, he won the batting title with .377 and was voted the league's most valuable player.

Last year at Minneapolis, Yastrzemski led the American Association in hits and finished second in the batting race at .339, losing out for the title in the final week.

Schilling, according to Red Sox scout Bobby Doerr, is almost a cinch to make it at second base, which would leave the club with the problem of what to do with batting champ Pete Runnels. Last year at Minneapolis, Schilling batted .310 and was the best fielding second baseman in the league.

In his only other season in pro ball, Schilling batted .340 at Alpine (Tex.) in the class D sophomore League.

Nine other rookies will train with the Red Sox. Four are first year players—pitchers Bob Carlson, Darrell Massey and Wilbur Wood, all left-handers, and outfield Paul Jernigan. All are 19.

The best of the new pitchers may be Hal Kistad, 25, a right-hander who had a 10-11 record with 3.45 earned run average at Minneapolis.

North Carolina and Arizona Face Likely NCAA Penalties

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP)—North Carolina and Arizona today faced possible loss of their eligibility for postseason championships as the 55th annual convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association moved toward a climax.

But Oklahoma again was eligible for bowl games and available for national football telecasts. The Sooners were restored to full privileges in the NCAA Monday night when a year-old indefinite probation was lifted by the NCAA Council.

The council did not complete its work in the North Carolina and Arizona cases and the decisions were put off until today.

North Carolina was under investigation for alleged violations of the NCAA code in regard to basketball recruiting; Arizona for recruiting and financial aid to football players.

The Tar Heels of basketball coach Frank McGuire, currently ranked seventh in The Associated Press poll, are a recognized national power.

Arizona's strong game is baseball. Coach Frank Sancel's teams have won three straight District 6 championships and five out of the last six. Arizona was runner-up in the college world series in 1956 and 1959.

No Set Format

NCAA penalties vary. Sometimes the penalty applies only to the sport in which the infraction occurs. In the more serious cases all athletic teams of the offending school suffer.

Auburn, for instance, has been on probation for nearly five years. During that time none of its teams has been eligible for tournaments, bowls or telecasts. But so spring sports would not be penalized a sixth season, the NCAA Council Monday set April 21, 1961, as the date Auburn's probation will terminate. It had previously been Sept. 1, 1961.

Southern California, which got in trouble over football recruiting, was stripped of all postseason rights during 1959 and football telecasts in 1960. The Trojans' probation was ended Monday, as was Tulsa's. The latter school, another football offender, was on a year's probation.

The NCAA said it had been able to investigate more fully the details of an Oklahoma recruiting fund that had existed from 1952 to 1954, and the investigation showed the Sooners were now free of any irregularities in regard to financial aid to football players.

Old Timers Meeting Slated for Thursday

An important meeting of the Old Timers Baseball Association will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at Tommie's Restaurant on High Street.

Further plans will be made for the 11th annual awards dinner on Wednesday, Jan. 25, at The Barn in Kingston. Guests of honor will be Willard Sahloff, a vice president of General Electric; Tommy Lewis and Dick Dulin.

The Kingston High school senior Player of the Year will also be honored at this time.

The name of the guest speaker will be announced later this week.

Springfield's Ace Tops Hockey Scorers

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Sweeney Springfield Indians' sharpshooter, stayed at the top of the American Hockey League scoring derby today with 64 points.

Official league statistics showed Sweeney scored four points last week and now has 23 goals and 41 assists. He also heads the league in assists.

Bill McCreary, also of Springfield, climbed into second place ahead of Phil Maloney of Buffalo. McCreary collected seven points for a total of 53. Maloney scored only one point and dropped into a third-place tie with Bruce Cline and Brian Kilrea, both of Springfield.

Harry Pidhirny and Jim Anderson, both of Springfield, shared the goal-getting lead with 25 each, while Marcel Paille of Springfield leads the goalies with a 2.66 average. He also leads in shutouts with five.

Ray's Tackle, Maines Auto Winners in Kingston League

Bill Lacombe Hits 22 For Scoring Honors

The power team took over in the Kingston Basketball League last night, as Ray's Tackle Shop drubbed Hub Delicatessen, 86-43, and Maines Auto Parts defeated Casablanca, 61 to 51.

Ronnie Scheffel led with 21 points and four other Tackle Shop cagers hit in double figures, Andy Juhl getting 15, Harry Pratt 13, Champ Holstein 19 and George Uhl 10. The winners led 20-12 at the quarter mark and 46-17 at halftime.

John Kelly scored 14 points and Chink Ferraro had 10 for the Delicatessen.

The Maines squad trailed Casablanca, 9-12, in the first quarter but picked up 21 points in the second period to lead 30-23 at the half.

Marty Kaye led the winners with 19 points. Tom Waters added 15 and Bill DuBois 14. Bill Lacombe of Casablanca gleaned individual honors for the night with 22 points. Carl Carter meshed 14 for Casablanca.

Master Point Bridge Results

Emil Jensen and Robert Smith of Poughkeepsie combined for an excellent 64 per cent game to win North-South side first place in the monthly Master point game sponsored by the Glenrie Bridge Club at Glenrie Park. Twenty-two boards were in play in a Mitchell type movement.

Miss Dorothy Maroon and Mrs. I. H. Wheatcroft of Kingston led the East-West side with 57 per cent.

Runnersup on the North-South side were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yallum, Kingsburg, 56 per cent, and Laszlo Sima, Woodstock, and I. H. Wheatcroft, Kingston, 51 per cent.

On the East-West side, Dr. and Mrs. John Olivet of Kingston posted 55½ per cent and Dr. and Mrs. Harry McNamara of Hurley had 46 per cent.

Rest was in third place, a game and a half off the pace.

Grace Sills leads the individual averages with 144.1. Helen Marie Grunwald has 142.47 and Edith Hull 142.14. League records are: Langar Pharmacy 752 and Royal Indent 2070; Sally Myers 193 and Helen Marie Grunwald, 506. Esther Hendricks has a 502.

The Stilt Heads for New Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—Unstoppable Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain of the Philadelphia Warriors has reached the halfway mark of the National Basketball Association season scoring at a pace well ahead of the one that carried him to a record last year.

Figures from the NBA today showed Chamberlain with 1,481 points in 39 games for a 38.0 average. In his rookie year last season, the 7-foot-1 Warrior ace established eight records—among them total points (2,707) and per game average (37.6). His current pace would enable him to top last year's total by more than 300 points.

Wilt, averaging 49 points in his last five games, edged ahead of Los Angeles' Elgin Baylor in total points although he has played three fewer games than Baylor. In 42 games, Baylor has scored 1,444 points for a 34.4 average.

Cincinnati rookie Oscar Robertson is the only other pro averaging over 30 points a game. Big O has 1,329 points in 43 games, a 30.9 pace, and continues to lead in assists with 402, a 9.3 per game average. Oscar also is challenging Chamberlain in field goal accuracy. Chamberlain has hit 480 per cent on 617 of 1,285 shots. Robertson has hit 466 of 973 for a 47.9 percentage.

Clyde Lovellette of St. Louis is the free throw percentage leader with 133 of 150 for .887 per cent, and Chamberlain leads in rebounds with a 27.9 per game bag compared to 23.6 for Boston's Bill Russell.

More Shutouts In CYO League

A local basketball league that specializes in rare shutouts—the CYO Elementary League—has come up with two more.

In one, the St. Philomena squad blanked Immaculate Conception, 24-0. In the other, St. Mary's 8th graders shut out St. Mary's 7th graders, 23 to 0.

Both teams managed to score in the St. Peter's of Rosendale-St. Joseph's contest, the latter winning 14 to 10.

Eileen Geisel of St. Mary's 8 was high scorer with 15 points. Ellen Carter of St. Philomena's potted 12 and Kay Walsh, St. Peter's and Peggy McHugh, St. Mary's 8 each had 8.

The scores:
St. Mary's 8 (23)—Eileen Geisel 15, Peggy McHugh 8; Mary Amarello, Pat Tiano, Pat Haber, Eileen Sullivan, Ann Reid.

St. Mary's 7th (0)—Helen Betkowski, Bonita Van Steenburg, Darlene Hines, Michele Betkowski, Deborah McHugh, Ellen Lynch.

St. Philomena's (24)—Ellen Carter 12, Jo Ann Healey 4, Marlene Soper 2, Jaddoff 4, Sandra Zamilla, Betty Barthel, Mary Schatzel, Chris Carter, Dianne Legac, Pat Murphy.

Immaculate Conception (0)—Mary Ann Roche, Lillian Tucker, B. Scap, Carol Melnik, M. Brink, Kay Tucker, Mary Scaffidi, F. Scaffidi, C. Witkowski, C. Brink.

St. Peter's Rosendale (10)—J. Prondoni 2, V. Planski, Kay Walsh, S. Schultz, J. A. Auletta, G. Heimitz, R. Luini.
St. Joseph's (14)—M. Rapp 4, K. Rapp 5, M. Mauceri 4, B. Condon, S. Sapp, M. Cross, D. Rigney, P. Swarthout, B. Cooke, S. Eavis, C. Secretto, J. Canavan, B. Kushner, R. Whittaker.

St. Mary's Quintets Face Busy Schedule

St. Mary's basketball squads will play Mt. Marion teams in Jayvee and Junior games Wednesday at the Mt. Marion gym. The Jayvee contest opens the doubleheader at 8 p. m.

St. Mary's Varsity plays St. Philomena's in a CYO League contest, Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Lake Katrine school.

The Tyro No. 1 squad meets the scrappy St. Mary's of the Snow team Saturday at 9:30 a. m. at the Saugerties auditorium. Tyros No. 2 play St. Joseph's at the George Washington school gym at 9 a. m.

St. Mary's Juniors meet the Marist Prep team at the Marist gym in Esopus, Sunday at 2 p. m.

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME

After the rush of the past year, Johnny Unitas enjoys the prospects of playing in the Pro Bowl . . . where the red-dog, in the interest of good offense, is verboten. . . . "It's another world," says the flipping Baltimore Colt.

The pitching accuracy of Norm Sneed, the Wake Forest boy drafted No. 1 by the Redskins, has no bounds . . . for in a brief fling with the Demon basketball squad before professionalizing himself in the bowl games, Norm had a shooting average of .619.

A student Jerry Lucas paced a nation-topping Ohio State basketball squad that also professes to have the highest scholastic average of any athletic team in Big Ten history. Even the professionals who drool about Jerry's talents as the "most complete player in the country" take at face value his insistence that he won't turn pro in 1962. Lucas' reputation impresses even the big boys. The first time he met Wilt the Stilt Chamberlain, as an Ohio high school kid, the Big Dipper said, "You mean that's Lucas of Middletown? They say he's better than I am."

That was a boo-boo Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League made when he stated that the Eagle-Packer title game was the first played in a college stadium . . . because, as Well Mara points out, the Giants met the Lions in 1935 in the University of Detroit stadium . . . where it was so cold that when a player was bumped across the sideline and spilled a bucket of water in the direction of Coach Steve Owen, the Giant mentor didn't even get wet "because the water froze in mid-air."

The Colts, in their quest for a fullback, seem to be willing to give up Johnny Sample, brilliant defensive halfback . . . his attitude enchants them far less than his football ability. . . .

When Norm Van Brocklin gets a pro head coaching job, there will be at least one change made. . . . Van believes films have made the job of a pro scout archaic. . . . As the Eagle quarterback he'd drop down to the club offices an hour and a half before practice each day just to run off pictures . . . studying them he determined that the best defensive back on the Rams was Don Burroughs, an undersirable in Los Angeles . . . so the Eagles were able to get the tall defender who shored up their secondary. . . .

In New York to pick up his Corvette from Sport magazine for being the most valuable player in the title game, Van Brocklin was musing how he started out his pro career wearing No. 25 for the Rams, but when the league standardized numbers by position he was forced to switch to 11, unlike Charley Conerly, who was able to retain 42 for the Giants. . . . "Only the stars," he grinned, "kept the old ones." . . .

Our All-American Football League backfield would have George Blanda at quarterback, Abner Haynes and Paul Lowe at the halfbacks, Rave Rolle at fullback . . . with the ends manned by Art Powell and Bill Groman. . . . If rumors are true, the Los Angeles Chargers lost a lot more than that title game to Houston—the deficit, one source insists, tops $900,000. . . . One thing the new league learned, says Buffalo owner Ralph Wilson, is to hammer down far-flung exhibition costs. . . . The Bills, for instance, will try to build a pre-season rivalry with nearby Toronto and Hamilton of the Canadian loop. . . .

Fantastic figures floating around in the salary war between the two pro grid leagues . . . the Dallas Texans' offer which landed E. J. Holub of Texas Tech was $24,000 a year for three years, salted by a $5,000 bonus. Lamar Hunt went to $15,000 for relatively unknown end Fred Arbanas of Michigan State. . . . The real kicker is that the rival Dallas Cowboys have already raised the salary of Texas Christian tackle Bob Lilly because they didn't want him to feel too badly about all the money Holub was getting.

Between you 'n' me, one NFL coach vetoed his star defensive tackle out of the Pro Bowl, although the votes went his way . . . he felt the man didn't have a good season . . . and we don't mean Big Daddy Lipscomb, who just plain didn't get a tumble on the ballots because he's more interested in playing like a linebacker instead of rushing the passer . . . as a tackle should.

... then you'll love the Buick Special! You get Buick comfort, ride and go—plus real gas savings to boot!

The Buick Special is 100% Buick—with everything that means. Like Buick go, for example. A new 155-h.p. aluminum V-8 and aluminum transmission* give you more sizzle than many a big car. And, because aluminum turns dead weight into live action, the miles per gallon figures are most delightful. Then there's Buick comfort—big roomy comfort for heads, hips and legs. And a Buick "all-day" ride—thanks to the same type Control Arm suspension as the full size Buicks and coil springs at all four wheels.

And priced under most low-price models. There's also Buick's Clean Look of Action and long-lasting Body by Fisher—all priced less than most models of the low-price field! Come guest-test the Special at your Buick dealer's—but come prepared to lose your heart!

Sentence Deferred

John Joseph Krajewski, 27, of 454 Washington Avenue, today pleaded guilty before City Judge Aaron E. Klein to a charge of driving a motor vehicle without lights. Sentence was deferred after Krajewski told the judge he lost his wallet containing his operator's license and registration last weekend and he was applying for new certificates. The case was adjourned to give the man an opportunity to produce a license.

Keep Both Brain, Body Exercising He Advises Aged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Exercising the brain and not the body won't do for America's elderly population, a New York doctor cautions.

Dr. Theodore C. Klumpp, president of Winthrop Laboratories, believes "We must do everything we can, as we grow older, to resist the inclination to slow down the tempo of our living."

In a speech to the White House Conference on Aging Monday, he declared the physical state of most older people "appalling."

As a class, said Dr. Klumpp, the senior citizens generally are "fat, flabby, tired and dyspeptic and hardly able to negotiate even the small exertion of their daily urban lives. Two flights of subway stairs bring them to the brink of exhaustion and their usual activity patterns may be described as the shortest distance between two chairs."

Somehow, he added, with all the labor saving devices, "we are imbued with the idea, without benefit of scientific rationale, that physical exertion and stress, particularly in adult life and middle age, is harmful."

"This has taken the form of a national psychosis that has swept the country like an ancient plague. We are afraid to live for fear of dying," he added.

Dr. Klumpp contended "moderate or graded stress" is necessary to the maintenance of good health.

"After the prime of life," he said, "the peak of which comes at different times for the various functions of the body, a decline occurs. In my opinion, this decline will proceed more slowly if the bodily functions are fully employed and through moderate and unfortunately descending stress they are held to their maximum capacities."

Handbag Stolen From Parked Car

Theft of a handbag containing articles worth $80 from a parked automobile on Broadway Monday night, was reported to police by Evelyn Edwards, 23, of Box 64, Saugerties.

She told police the theft occurred between 7:30 and 8 p. m. The handbag contained $5 in cash, personal papers, bankbooks, an IBM identification card and badge, house and car keys, and a key to the complainant's desk at the IBM plant.

PREPARE FOR OPENING—Getting set for the grand opening of the new Rosendale Food Center 9 a. m. Wednesday are Mr. and Mrs. John Trataros and sons, Paul and Stanley, co-owners of the family operated business. The modern food market will feature personalized meat cutting service. Situated at the entrance to the village of Rosendale on Route 32, the 12,000 square foot building was begun about six months ago. The family has been in the food business for the past 30 years and for the past five years has operated at Main Street, Rosendale. (Freeman photo)

State Revokes 10 Licenses of Car Check Stations

ALBANY—Licenses of 10 stations authorized by the state to perform safety checks under the Periodic Inspection Law, were revoked during December for alleged violations of the regulations, Commissioner William S. Hults of the Department of Motor Vehicles reported today.

The one-year revocations came after hearings resulting from investigation of motorists' complaints and from periodic inspection procedures by state police. The 10 are:

Hassett Service Station, Rochester; Owens Sunoco Service, Salamanca; Topps Auto Body Repair, New York City; BBG Service Center, Inc., Brooklyn; World Service Center, Inc., Brooklyn; Marine Service Station, Brooklyn; Goss Chevrolet, Inc., Walden; Stan's Motor Sales, North Tonawanda; Felice's Sunoco Service, Patchogue and Rich Haven Motor Sales, Inc., Ozone Park.

The inspection section of the department reports that, during November, state police conducted inquiries into 42 such complaints and 2,925 investigations of state-licensed stations. After 52 hearings, the licenses of 18 stations were suspended for varying periods and 10 others were revoked. The 8,835 inspection stations operating within the state reported they made 399,600 inspections during November when 1955 model vehicles were due for the safety-check.

Inspections for 1961 begin next month when 1947 and earlier models, plus homemade and custom-built vehicles are due for the checkup.

Two Persons Hurt In Falls Monday

Two persons were injured Monday when they slipped and fell on ice, according to police.

Mrs. Anna Ransome, 74, who resides in a house trailer near The Barn off Route 28 fell on icy pavement on Washington Avenue. She was taken home by police after complaining of an injury to her left leg.

Patricia DeGraff, 16, of 31 Third Avenue, fell near municipal auditorium, 487 Broadway and received an injury of her left shoulder. The injured told police they would be examined and treated by their family physician.

War Pilot Seen Choice for FAA

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Post said today Najeep (Jeeb) E. Halaby, 45, Los Angeles electronics executive, is President-elect John F. Kennedy's choice for administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency.

E.R. Quesada now heads the agency. Halaby was a wartime Navy flier and later a test pilot for Lockheed Aircraft Corp. He served in both the State and Defense departments during the Truman administration.

Mines Still Haunt Japs

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese shipping is still haunted by floating mines planting during World War II.

The Maritime Self-Defense Agency estimates 1,000 U.S.-made magnetic mines are floating about.

Plans are under way to launch a three-year mine-sweeping operation to get rid of these explosives.

Guatemala Says U.S. Is Helping To Thwart Cuba

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States is supplying Guatemala with training personnel, material and other assistance in the preparation of a commando-type force for a possible clash with Cuba, the New York Times reported today.

A dispatch by Paul P. Kennedy from Retalhuleu, near the southwest coast of Guatemala, said the United States also helped finance the construction of a nearby airfield where intensive daily air training is going on.

"Guatemalan authorities from President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes on down insist that the military effort is designed to meet an assault, expected almost any day, from Cuba," said the dispatch.

"Opponents of the Ydigoras administration have insisted that the preparations are for an offensive against Cuba and that it is being planned and directed, and to a great extent being paid for, by the United States."

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa charged in the U.N. Security Council last week that training camps for "mercenaries" for use against Cuba were operating in Guatemala and elsewhere. He complained that the United States was planning an invasion of Cuba at almost any hour.

President Ydigoras previously charged that a frustrated uprising in Guatemala last November was aided by Cubans. At his request President Eisenhower sent U.S. naval and air patrols off Guatemala's coast to prevent any invasion of the country.

The U.S. Embassy in Guatemala City is maintaining complete silence on the activity at Retalhuleu, Kennedy said.

Hudson River Presbytery Is Organized at Merger Parley

The constituting of the Presbytery of Hudson River, formerly Hudson, North River and Westchester Presbyteries of the United Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., took place at Calvary Presbyterian Church, Newburgh, Sunday.

On hand for the merger meeting were the Rev. Elder G. Hawkins, vice moderator of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Eugene Carson Blake, stated clerk of the United Presbyterian Church; Elder Wayne H. Byrne, moderator, Synod of New York; the moderators of the merged Presbyteries—Hudson, the Rev. Eugene W. Ebert; North River, the Rev. Robert L. Agnew; and Westchester, the Rev. Lee M. Fairchild.

The new Presbytery was convened by the prayer of the Rev. Mr. Fairchild at 3 p. m. The following were elected officers: Moderator, the Rev. Merle S. Irwin; Vice Moderators, the Rev. George N. Barford and the Rev. Joseph C. Hedges; Acting Stated Clerk, the Rev. Frank O. Reed; Executive Secretary, the Rev. Melvin J. Joachim; Permanent Clerk, the Rev. David R. Aaronson; Temporary Clerk, the Rev. David C. Pierce; and Enrollment Clerk, the Rev. Robert Farrow.

Over 1,000 Attend

Approximately 1000 people were present for the worship service that followed Presbytery meeting. Greetings from the Synod of New York were extended by Moderator Byrne who said "the Synod of New York, 104 years young in its present statewide form brings greetings to its newest progeny, the year's first-born, the Presbytery of Hudson River." He spoke of the 16 Presbyteries and 300,000 members of the Synod.

Elder Byrne said that "this is not the time for a 'watered-down' faith of the individual... The Presbytery will succeed... to the extent it rouses each member... to the challenge of the times."

In the sermon, "Breaking Down the Inner Barriers" the Rev. Eugene Carson Blake traced the breaking down of the outer barriers of distance, space, time, language, relationships in economics, politics, and church. He called for the inner barriers

Body of Missing Coed Found in Oregon Monday

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Police had only slim hopes of finding a clue in the murder of a coed whose body was found Monday, six weeks after she disappeared.

The girl, Beverly Ann Allan, 19, Port Townsend, Wash., apparently was killed a few hours after her boyfriend died in a fight with someone who ambushed them in a wooded lover's lane near Portland Nov. 26.

Her boyfriend, Larry Ralph Peyton, 19, Portland, was stabbed to death. His body was found Nov. 27.

The body of Miss Allan, a Washington State University Sophomore, was found beside a highway 37 miles west of Portland. Police said it apparently had been tossed from the road down a steep slope.

A highway crew, cutting roadside brush, found the body.
